Will Police Get Money's Worth? Time Will Tell

By WES ALBERS and GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writers

When Lincoln police joined the International Brotherhood of Police Officers (IBPO) last February, nearly two-thirds of their dues were tagged for the national union.

Whether IBPO will give Lincoln police their money's worth only time will tell.

Local president James Hill and Lincoln attorney J. Murry Schaeffer, IBPO's Nebraska representative, say they heard nothing but superlatives while investigating that union.

Apparently convinced, Lincoln police voted 176-1 on April 22 to make IBPO their exclusive bargaining agent.

IBPO formed in 1963 by a group of Rhode Island police departments, represents 900 police departments and some 50,000 officers in 50 states. In Nebraska, the Scottsbluff, Gering and Grand Island police departments and the Scotts Bluff County sheriff's office are IBPO affiliates.

Lincoln's 180-member local collects $10 a month dues per person. Of the $21,600 collected yearly, $15,768 goes to the national union. It returns $1,890 yearly, keeping the rest.

Local Share $7,632

The local's $7,632 share covers contributions (it donated $200 to the Salvation Army's Tree of Lights drive last year), gifts or plaques for departing officers' salaries and other expenses.

Hill and secretary-treasurer Gary Engle are paid $150 a month.

According to William Norton, IBPO executive director, the $13,860 kept by the national union entitles the local to a full-time lawyer (Schaeffer also has a private practice). Members involved in job-related incidents (for example, false arrest charges) get free legal representation.

Schaeffer wouldn't reveal the size of his IBPO retainer. In the last three or four years, the city attorney's office has handled about half a dozen civil actions against police officers. Most of these stemmed from federal civil rights complaints. City Atty. Charles Humble said.

Professional negotiators at bargaining time (the national union pays them $250 a day plus expenses, Norton said).

Lobbying in Washington, D.C. and at the state level (Schaeffer will be a registered lobbyist). Currently, IBPO is backing a congressional bill to provide $50,000 payments to the families of policemen killed in the line of duty, Norton said. Retroactive to 1972, it would benefit about 1,000 families.

A free $10,000 accidental death and dismemberment insurance policy for each member.

Seminars (IBPO holds regional workshop/seminars on labor problems and tactics three times a year, Norton said). In addition, the national union will train the local's collective bargaining team.

A monthly police newspaper.

The 30-year-old Omaha Police Union, an independent, is considering IBPO membership despite being "really successful" on its own, union president Wally Jernigan said.

If they can produce all they say they produce, it's a hell of an organization. Fifteen cities we talked to spoke highly of them, but it just sounds too good to be true, he said.

Not Jumping In
We're going to study it, not just jump into something. We've been down that road (affiliation) a few times before and gotten stung.

Omaha's association with the American Society of Municipal Employees provided no representation, they just took our money and none of it was coming back, Jernigan said.

Officer Larry Barksdale, a local union board member, said the strength of a large group such as IBPO was a major factor in the decision to affiliate.

The national organization plays a supportive role, leaving its locals autonomous to a great degree, Hill said.

Local members believe national affiliation will keep dues down, fixed national dues protect against inflation, provide outside expertise and increase their bargaining power, he said.

Previously, a six-man committee discussed salaries with the city on a meet-and-confer basis. Now a collective bargaining team with power to appeal to the Court of Industrial Relations will negotiate yearly contracts.

In the last four years, Lincoln police have received a flat 3% total base increase plus possible merit raises. Last September, the annual base hike was 10% with possible 5% merit increases.

Negotiations Soon
The collective bargaining team being formed now will begin negotiations with the city very soon, Hill said.

The union will definitely not ask for less than what we've got last year and probably will ask for a little more, Schaeffer said. That's the way these things usually work.

Hill said the union also wants to negotiate court time (officers believe they are called into court unnecessarily), clothing allowances (detectives get less than uniformed officers), a grievance system and call-ins (calling off-duty officers in to work).

Norton said IBPO insists on a no-strike clause in contracts it negotiates.

IBPO bylaws prohibit locals from striking. State law also prohibits strikes, work stoppages or slowdowns by police.

Lincoln police made an abortive attempt at unionization in 1943. Never attracting more than 25% of those eligible, the union disbanded when membership fell below the required 7%.

But last year's effort succeeded. On July 24, 28 policemen and policewomen met to discuss unionization. Less than two months later, the Lincoln Police Union was incorporated. In February, the members, then 173 of 228 eligible officers, voted unanimously to join IBPO.

Single Mothers Face Many Problems

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of three stories on changes in the American woman's lifestyle.)

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer

Audrey Rowe Colom sleeps with the lights on.

And she worries a lot.

About living alone, keeping up with her job, adjusting to a reduced income, dealing with her ex-husband, being with other men and coping with her daughter.

Ms. Colom is one of the 7.2 million mothers in America who are raising children alone. They are women who decided either not to marry or whose marriages have been broken by separation, divorce or death.

Most are left to cope with a tangle of social, personal and financial problems that stretch their patience as well as their pocketbooks.

"The most overriding problem is one of adjustment," said Ms. Colom, who balances her time as a mother of a 3-year-old with her job as chairwoman of the National Women's Political Caucus. She prefers the designation Ms.

"You have to adjust to living in a house alone," she said, "an adult by yourself who must pick up the responsibility of fixing the toilet if it breaks, paying the bills, fixing meals, cleaning."

"It bothers me when my daughter says daddy took her to see 'The Wizard of Oz' on weekends she spends with me. I don't have time to take her. You feel guilty. Will she love him more than me?"

"I feel totally frustrated. People don't understand these are problems. Some days it's heaven, some days hell."

In a major new study on the status of American women, the Census Bureau found that 13% of the families in America — about one in seven — are headed by a woman. That's an increase of 73% since 1960.

The government figures show that the number of children in these families has grown from 4.2 million in 1960 to 10.5 million in 1975. That means approximately one in six children in America is growing up in a fatherless family.

Rising illegitimacy rates among teen-agers and a greater tendency for women to establish their own households rather than live with relatives have played a role in this increase. But by far the major cause of the growing number of female-headed households has been the skyrocketing divorce rate, now dissolving about one in three American families.

Part of this increase can be related to the impact of the women's movement, said Isabel V. Sawhill, an economist at the Urban Institute in Washington and coauthor of a recently published book called "Time of Transition" which details the growth of families headed by women.

Part is that more and more women are working and have more economic independence, she said. There's been a change

Training To Be Reviewed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld says he has ordered a review of recruit training practices in all the armed services following the death of a young Marine in close combat drill.

I've indicated that I personally am interested in this subject with respect to all services, Rumsfeld said in an interview.

What I want to do is assure myself that the practices and approaches that are being used within the various services are satisfactory.

Critical attention has been focused on Marine recruit training as a result of the recent death of Pvt. Lynn McClure of Lufkin, Tex. McClure suffered fatal head injuries during "motivation" training using padded wooden sticks.

Last week, the Marine Corps ordered courts-martial trials for three drill sergeants and a captain on charges growing out of McClure's death. Two other officers, including a colonel, were assigned administrative punishment.

Some Pentagon officials are concerned that enlistments in the all-volunteer forces may suffer if the nation's military-age youth and their parents come to believe that brutality is prevalent in training of recruits.

I certainly was deeply concerned about the very tragic death of the young man in San Diego, Rumsfeld said of the McClure case.

I know that the Marine Corps for a period of some months before the most recent problem has been addressing it and developing steps that they feel will insure that their procedures are proper and effective.

Marine Corps headquarters has set in motion a series of reforms aimed at ending any maltreatment and hazing of recruits and at reducing what Marine officers refer to as excess physical and mental stress.

While applauding Marine Corps moves in this direction, Rumsfeld said the subject of how young recruits are handled merits continuing review and it doesn't involve just one service.

On other matters,

Italy-Communists — Rumsfeld showed concern about continued access by Italy to NATO secrets if Communists enter the Italian government as a result of elections expected in June.

There simply is information that is communicated within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization that would be unacceptable to communicate to Communist officials, Rumsfeld said.

Vietnam investigation — Rumsfeld rejected the idea of a congressional investigation to look back at U.S. policy decisions and what was done wrong there.

I can't conceive of any value to such an approach, he said.

Because of the violent opposition to the war during the Lyndon Johnson period, practically every decision that President Johnson made was under a microscope during that period, Rumsfeld said.

Russian weapons — He indicated Soviet arms growth has continued since he took office last November, but without any dramatic or unexpected new developments.

Navv shipbuilding — Rumsfeld refused to give even a hint of the scope of the long-term program the administration will present to Congress, probably in the coming week, for building up the U.S. naval fleet now at its smallest since before Pearl Harbor.

Leftists Control Port?

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A leftist Moslem militia group claimed it had taken strategic control of Beirut's port area from Christian forces Sunday, as continued heavy fighting and rocket, mortar and artillery barrages rocked the divided capital.

Police reported more than 200 persons killed since heavy fighting flared Friday night, after parliament postponed election of a new president until next Saturday.

The Ambushers, the largest militia in the Moslem alliance, said they occupied an office and a bank building that gives the leftists strategic control of the port area, a major objective since they forced the Christians out of the seaside hotel district last week.

The group said leftist forces were regrouping for a "large-scale attack to complete their control of the area."

The Moslem militia group also said it repulsed an attack in the port area by elements of the army loyal to President Suleiman Franjeh, a Christian. The leftist group said the army unit lost two armored vehicles, 10 men killed and a large number were wounded.

No version of the fighting was available from right-wing Christian Phalangist forces.

However, Phalangist party leader Pierre Gemayel threatened to "fold the page of a political solution and seek other ways" if the leftist Moslem forces continued their attacks.

Despite the many violations of the Syrian-negotiated truce which officially ended Friday, the Phalangist said it supports extending the cease-fire, the 35th in the year-long civil war.

The Moslems, under Kamal Jumblatt, were meeting Sunday night to discuss extending the truce.

The replacement of Franjeh has been a key demand of the Moslem alliance, which is fighting to take political power from Christians who have dominated the country since World War II. Lebanon is now 80 per cent Moslem.

American special envoy L. Dean Brown has returned to Beirut to continue his mediation efforts. The Syrian peace initiative has American support.

4-H's Find Big Trash Crop

More than 100 miles of Lancaster County roadside ditches were cleaned by members of 22 4-H clubs Saturday. A 45-mile stretch south of Lincoln yielded the five dump trucks of trash pictured here with farmer Dave Castor who provided a vehicle for the project. The project, dubbed "Clean-a-mile" is in its sixth year according to Allen Boettcher, a 4-H extension agent who coordinated the efforts of some 130 youngsters. Similar pick-ups were held near Waverly, Malcolm, Martell and Hallam, he said. (Star Photo)

Schools Hit By Vandals

Three Lincoln schools were damaged by vandals over the weekend and Lincoln police have four young Omaha men in custody in connection with at least one of the incidents.

The four were arrested for a $150 damage spree and theft of a record player from Hawthorne School at 300 S. 48th early Sunday morning. Windows in the building were broken and a fire extinguisher was sprayed in one hallway, police said.

Vandals did more than $1500 damage to Duwes Jr. High at 5130 Colfax sometime late Friday or early Saturday when they broke into the teacher's lounge, damaged a pencil vending machine, broke glass beakers and test tubes in a science room, broke windows in several rooms and stole a $50 transistor radio. A total dollar loss of $1,555 was reported to police.

Sunday afternoon, police recovered a golf cart which had been stolen from Holmes Golf Course at 3701 S. 70th and driven to Leffler Jr. High at 1100 S. 48th where it was driven into a glass door causing $150 damage.

The vandalism spree at the golf course involved damage to another golf cart which was apparently hot-wired to start and then driven around on a green causing another $150 damage, police said. Flags on several greens were also damaged in that incident, police said.

Canadian Air Pushes Temperatures Down

By United Press International

Cold Canadian air greeted the month of May in the Midwest Sunday. Temperatures plunged to the low 20s in the Central Plains and up to two inches of snow showered parts of North Dakota and Minnesota.

Freeze or frost warnings were issued in six states east of the cold front for Sunday night.

Early Sunday, the mercury dropped below freezing from the Rockies to the Central Plains. Record low temperatures were recorded as far south as Meridian, Miss., where it was 44 degrees and Houston, Tex., where it was 45. A 51-degree reading in Lake Charles, La., also set a record for the date.

The temperature hit 20 degrees in Glasgow, Mont. and Wiliston, N.D., while Chadron, Neb., recorded a 26-degree reading.

Four other Nebraska cities had lows of 30 or lower Sunday. Alliance had a low of 28. Valentine 25, Burwell 30 and North

Platte 29.

In Bloomington, Minn., the Minnesota Twins-Milwaukee Brewers baseball game was postponed because of snow. Between 1 and 1½ inches of snow fell in the Twin Cities but it melted quickly. About two inches was recorded in Lax Lake in northeastern Minnesota and lighter amounts fell in eastern North Dakota.

Frost and freeze warnings were issued for Sunday night in northeastern Kansas, most of Missouri and Nebraska, all of lower Michigan, South Dakota and Iowa. A travelers advisory was in effect in Michigan's upper peninsula where intermittent snow was forecast.

In Seattle, Wash., a sunny heat wave that sent temperatures climbing to 85 degrees last week ended abruptly in a storm which knocked out power in scattered areas of the city Saturday night and more extensively in Tacoma south of Seattle.

OPPD Report: Demand Rising

Omaha (UPI) — The annual report by the Omaha Public Power District shows recent rate increases and continual urging to conserve energy haven't slowed the increasing demand for electricity.

The report for 1975 shows the average residential use of electricity increased 8.9% over the average 1974 consumption.

OPPD had net revenues for 1975 of $18.3 million up 37.4% or $5 million over 1974 net revenues.

GOP Contest Becoming Bitter

DALLAS (AP) — Ronald Reagan's extraordinary sweep in Texas foretells a long and increasingly bitter contest with President Ford for the Republican presidential nomination.

Shut out in Texas, Ford resumed his campaign Sunday, suddenly cast as the candidate with something to prove. He needs a victory now.

While Ford and Reagan wage an escalating campaign for GOP support, former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter is consolidating his command of the Democratic race.

Carter won big in Texas, and while he stopped short of claiming a lock on the nomination, he isn't far from it. "His victory in Texas assures him of the Democratic nomination," said Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

Reagan's was the startling showing in the first-ever Texas primary on Saturday.

He won all 96 Republican delegates, shutting out an incumbent President who had campaigned hard, beating the state Republican establishment led by Sen. John G. Tower, and proving his claim to be a winner in the South and the Southwest.

Ford is still ahead in delegate strength, but Reagan is now close behind him. The President has 283, Reagan 236 and there are 329 formally uncommitted. It takes 1,130 to pick a nominee.

Texas Republicans will choose four more delegates later and they, too, will go to Reagan.

On the Democratic side, Carter gained 93 delegates, while Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen, who ran as a favorite son after quitting his own presidential campaign, could gain only five. Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, once a powerhouse in Texas, was shut out in the delegate competition, too.

Texas Democrats are picking 32 more delegates in caucuses that will lead to a June 19 state convention. That process began Saturday night with precinct caucuses — just after the polls closed. Carter is virtually certain to gain most of those delegates, too. Briscoe said Texans had overwhelmingly indicated that they want Carter.

He now has 447 of the 1,505 Democratic delegates needed for nomination. Jackson has 196, Udall 175, Wallace 113 and 242 are uncommitted.

Reagan found himself in something of a verbal joust with Sen. Barry Goldwater, who said the former California governor could be heading down the same path he walked in 1964, when his unsuccessful race for the presidency split the GOP.

Goldwater, long a spokesman for the party's conservative wing, said on NBC's "Meet The Press," "I think the Republican party is going through pretty much the same thing it went through when I was running."

There was no popular vote on the presidential candidates in Texas. Instead, the voters picked convention delegates listed on the ballot with the candidates they supported. So there were in effect 24 Republican elections, one in each congressional district; and 31 Democratic races, in state senate districts.

The President was campaigning Sunday night in Indiana, and was to seek votes in Alabama Monday. His campaign manager, Rogers C. B. Morton, said Reagan probably will win the Georgia and Alabama primaries.

That makes Indiana all the more important to Ford.

"Indiana is going to be tough," said Sen. Paul Laxalt of Nevada, the Reagan campaign chairman. "We were several points behind there — but we're coming on now."

Ford was unopposed in the District of Columbia and gets its 14 delegates.

On the Democratic side, Carter is running against Wallace in Alabama, against Udall in the District of Columbia primary, against the inactive Jackson in Indiana, and at home in the Georgia primary.

Reagan, at a news conference in Indianapolis, said of the Texas results: "I'm still a little stunned. We certainly had not anticipated anything like a clean sweep."

He said he believed the victory was a matter of voters beginning to understand what he was talking about — detente, defense, the economy.

In other weekend political developments:

— An uncommitted slate headed by Gov. Edwin Edwards won 15 delegates in Louisiana's party-run Democratic primary. But Carter won 10 and Wallace, who carried the state as a third-party candidate, won 7, keeping Edwards from his avowed goal of controlling a majority of the state's delegation. Another nine delegates will be selected next Saturday, and based on the apportionment of the primary, the uncommitted slate would get 4, Carter 3 and Wallace 2.

— Maine Republicans selected their 20 delegates to the National Convention. All were nominally uncommitted, but 13 said they favored Ford and 4 said they favored Reagan.

— Carter got 13 of the 27 delegates as Kansas Democrats picked their delegation to the Democratic convention. Eleven were uncommitted, Udall received two and Jackson one.

— Ford picked up three delegates in district conventions in Minnesota. On the Democratic side, Humphrey picked up six and five more were uncommitted.

WINNER REAGAN...stunned but happy.

U.S. Outbuilding Soviets
Washington — Previously secret information supplied by the Pentagon to Sen. Patrick J. Leahy, D-Vt., shows that in the last 15 years, the United States has built twice as many large combat ships as the Soviet Union.

Sadat Presses For Harmony
Cairo — The regime of President Anwar Sadat is pressing ahead quietly with its efforts to bring the political and economic institutions of Egypt into closer harmony with American and West European concepts.

Oxford Emerges Unsmear'd
Oxford, England — Oxford University has emerged from the university turmoil of the past decade with its classic facades unsmear'd, its lawns unruffled and its dons and students talking to each other in mutual tolerance.

Hughes' Will Not Believed
San Francisco — People who observed Howard R. Hughes as closely as they could in the 20 years he lived in seclusion doubt that the will found in Salt Lake City last week was written by him. Hank Greenspun, publisher of the Las Vegas Sun, said, "I think it's a phony." Handwriting comparisons also cast doubt on the will's genuineness.

'Tall Ships' Race Underway
Plymouth, England — The first leg of the twice-yearly international trans-Atlantic Tall Ships Race got under way Sunday in Plymouth, England. The first ship across the starting line was the Soviet Union's Kruzenshtern, a 3,000-ton square rigged, four-masted bark manned by a crew of 236, of whom 160 were naval cadets. The first leg will end in about 18 days in the Canary Islands; the second in Bermuda in mid-June, the third in Newport, R.I., at the end of June, and the fourth in Plymouth in August. The entire fleet will sail into New York Harbor on July 4 to celebrate the bicentennial.

Wife Bears Brunt Of Divorce, Faces Sharp Drop In Income

in expectations of roles. A lot of people get married with certain expectations of who will take care of the children and who will bring home the paycheck. Now we're finding husbands and wives who don't agree."

One of the authors' findings is that for most women and children, living outside the traditional family is a transitional rather than a permanent state, an experience that typically lasts no longer than five or six years. And most, they say, are not rejecting marriage as a lifestyle. There is simply less tolerance for unhappiness.

Dr. Sawhill said that often the biggest problem women face is living on a reduced income.

There is no question of who bears the brunt of divorce — the wife does. Dr. Sawhill said. Research shows that when a couple gets divorced, the wife's income drops sharply whereas the husband's doesn't tend to drop. Even if you adjust both incomes for the fact that the husband is paying alimony and child support, the wife on the average is much worse off."

When Marilyn King, 41, an administrative assistant at Georgia State University in Atlanta, was divorced five years ago, her income dropped sharply. She has two children, ages 15 and 18.

"My husband was a military officer, and his income was about $1,800 a month," she said. "Then, when I went to work, with my take home and child support, I had about $550 a month."

Her son has taken a part-time job to help pay his college expenses, she said. "We have an expression: We're poor, but we're honest."

Suzanne Keller, a sociology professor at Princeton University, said one of the most frustrating problems these women have is adjusting to other people's attitudes about being single.

"I don't think raising children alone incapacitates one," Dr. Keller said. "Look at wives of salesmen, pilots, ship captains who do it as a matter of course. But they don't have this stigma attached to them. This attitude is changing within limits. It's become more acceptable, but it's not easy."

Marnette O'Brien, 41, of Boston, mother of a 9-year-old, said that besides financial troubles — which are considerable since she can't find a job — her biggest worries have been social isolation and having little time of her own.

"If you're not working, you're taking care of your child," she said. "There's not much time for friendship. And you don't fit in with the other couples at church."

Finding child care is one of the major concerns of women raising their families alone. It is expensive, especially for the middle and upper class families who have neither the means of the rich nor the government subsides of the poor.

Dr. Keller blamed part of such childcare problems on politicians who, she said, are often out of touch with middle-class concerns.

"People who make the laws have old fantasies," she said. "Mostly they are well off and don't face these problems."

"But when their kids got into problems with drugs, you saw a different attitude. They talked differently when their kids got picked up. If their daughters or ex-wives find themselves in situations like this, they may change."

Several sociologists and psychologists interviewed suggested that public pressure be put on communities to establish childcare programs that would be run by unemployed people, particularly teen-agers and senior citizens.

Dr. Edward Ziegler, a psychology professor at Yale University who specializes in children's programs, suggested that communities form a homemaker system where a trained person could come into the home when needed — when the mother is at work, when someone goes into the hospital, when one or both parents are on vacation.

"What's missing is an organized constituency," Dr. Ziegler said. "Why can't women organize and make people respond? My hunch is that women think they are supposed to suffer. People don't take their needs seriously. I used to have hope for women's lib, but I don't anymore."

Almost all of the women interviewed said they worried about the effect on their children of growing up in a fatherless family. "I try to let my daughter spend some time with her uncle and grandfather," said Benita Anderson, 23, an unmarried mother who works as a secretary during the day and is finishing her second year of college at night.

Michael Lamb, an assistant professor of psychology at the University of Wisconsin, said there is general agreement that children raised in fatherless families are more likely to develop somewhat abnormally — whether it be in sex-role, moral development or even intellectual function.

"It's generally the case that the most disadvantaged are those whose fathers leave when they are very young, especially between 2 and 4 years," Dr. Lamb said. "More often, the boys are the most affected. Girls whose parents are divorced tend to be more forward in interaction with males, while girls whose fathers are dead tend to be more passive and shy. It seems to be the case that boys are more affected by divorce than death."

Many of these women worry about their sexual lives — how men they date will respond to their children, how the children will react to a new man, whether to have an affair or to live with someone,

The Israeli team won the game by 69 international match points, 101-32. This gave Israel 20 points and put Italy at minus one.

The Italians could lose four more points for failing to submit a system in advance of the competition.

In other matches, Brazil narrowly defeated the United States, 11-9, and Australia beat Hong Kong, 13-7.

The World Bridge Federation issued a statement earlier Sunday that it will take no action on charges that some Italian players had used illegal signals in past matches until an investigation by the Italian Bridge Federation is completed.

However, the federation said it disapproved of the delay in taking care of the matter.

The charges were made in February by Leandro Burgay, an Italian expert who recently failed to make the world champion Italian team. Burgay gave the Italian federation a tape recording of a telephone conversation he claims he had with Benito Bianchi, a former Italian world champion.

The recording allegedly refers to several players signaling illegally with cigarettes and cigarette smoke. Among the players accused are Pietro Forquet and Giorgio Belladonna, who are playing for Italy here in two world championship games during the next three weeks.

Bianchi denies having made the statements attributed to him but agrees that the voice appears to be his.

Ag Engineers Take On Urban Problems

By DOMINICK COSTELLO
Farm Editor
University of Nebraska ag engineers believe their technology in manure handling can be of value to cities struggling to handle sewage disposal problems.

"Usually they construct a huge concrete thing when they ought to be considering a system that uses the sewage waste to fertilize land," suggested Norris Swanson an NU engineer.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's experiment station at Beltsville, Md., has been working on the problem of converting sewage into fertilizer for more than a year.

Dr. James Parr, a microbiologist and Dr. George Wilson, an engineer, both with the Agriculture Research Service have developed a method of mixing raw sewage with wood chips and composting the mess into fertilizer that works quite well. There is little odor and the end product has been used as the only fertilizer to produce 140 bushels of corn per acre.

Seventy tons of sewage sludge are hauled to the treatment site daily and mixed with wood chips from the type of chipping machine that tree service companies use. "You can use peanut hulls, rice hulls or even straw — whatever is available," Wilson explained.

Heats Up Naturally

The system heats up naturally, killing off the disease organisms in the sewage. After the composting process is completed, the compost is run through a huge screening machine to recover the wood chips to be used over again.

The whole process is costing about $50 a ton compared to a cost of $200 to $400 a ton to bury the sewage in landfills, which is tremendously expensive in eastern states because of very high land costs. The system is very attractive to cities that have disposal costs as high as $400 a ton.

Asked what the cities will use the black powder like material for when they have it produced, Dr. Wilson said, "We have been having some pretty lively discussions about that."

"It is a good low-grade fertilizer that is especially useful in restoring the water holding capacity of heavy clay soils. It is a very good lawn and garden fertilizer, but one large city could supply a huge area with all this product that can be sold," he said.

The end product could be spread easily with ordinary farm manure handling equipment. Even if the city paid the cost of hauling the fertilizer to the farms, it probably would be cheaper than burning or burying it.

"Almost any method of disposal of sewage is objectionable because of ecological considerations, but this product is a good fertilizer that can be the only fertilizer used on a field. As far as we know there are no major problems with it," Wilson said.

Toxic Metals

One problem that can crop up is in sewage from factories that use metals in some sort of solution, such as bumper plating industries. Those metals can be toxic to animals and humans when taken up by growing plants that are eaten as food.

"We could limit this process to bedroom communities that have no industry, but I think a better thing is to simply keep the metal products out of the sewage system in the first place. Waste from these industries needs it's own kind of treatment facility for it's own kind of problems before the waste is allowed to enter the city sanitary sewage system," Wilson said.

Wilson and Parr have tried both digested sewage sludge from typical city sewage plants and raw sewage. The raw sewage gets much warmer in the compost pile, killing the disease organisms. There are no particular advantages to running the sewage through a digestion system first, according to preliminary data collected to date.

The fertilizer and product can be spread at the rate of 10 to 15 tons per acre. A city the size of Lincoln would produce enough sludge fertilizer for about 250 acres of land a year if it were the only fertilizer used.

Much More Bulk

"The problem with the fertilizer we make is that you need a whole lot of the stuff for a 160-acre field. It's a lot bulkier than commercial fertilizers," Parr said.

Sewage fertilizer is organic and may be especially useful for projects such as restoring strip mining areas and restoring badly eroded soils.

"There is a lot of interest here in our project. A number of city officials have seen it and more are coming for a look. There are two or three who have indicated they are ready to try it themselves," Wilson said.

If Wilson and Parr have continued success, the city populations may be looking to farmers for food and for a place to market fertilizer made from sewage which is fast becoming a major problem for city officials everywhere.

Spotlight on Agriculture

By DOMINICK COSTELLO
Farm Editor

Farmers often fight each other but when really angry they can unite forces rather well.

The National Association of Wheat Growers is collecting funds from all sorts of groups to fight export restrictions.

The Montana Farmers Union sent a check for $5,000. The American Rice Growers Cooperative, the National Corn Growers Association, the Minnesota Soybean Growers Association and a lot of just plain individual farmers are sending checks.

The stated financial goal is a penny for each bushel of grain farmers produce. The money will be spent in the courts in an effort to make it illegal to ban exports.

The group also intends to work for new legislation and may undertake an educational program aimed at telling city folks the importance of overseas markets for farmers.

The rules and conditions covering who does and who doesn't get a crop disaster payment (if the wheat is torn out to be replaced by another crop) are more complicated than ever this year.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has been fine-tuning the procedures, so last year's rules don't necessarily apply to this year's problems.

We can't get into the variations without writing a book, but for the individual farmer, it is only necessary that he understand what happens on his farm.

To find out, take your questions to your local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office, not to your neighbor who has been there.

It is quite possible for a farm operator who farms land owned by two or more landowners to find differing sets of payment conditions for the different landowners.

The various rules apply differently depending on the size and kinds of allotments, degree of damage to the crop and other factors.

The new rules are designed to make the disaster program more fair; unfortunately, they also made it much more complicated.

All the talk of feeding grain to people instead of to livestock seems to be falling on deaf ears in Asian nations.

There are now 56 commercial feed mills in the Philippines turning out 80,000 tons of commercial livestock feed. The island nation produces a good deal of corn itself but still imports vast quantities of sorghum, corn and other grains.

Beef imports have hurt local livestock producers somewhat, but expansion of local livestock operations is still underway.

At least one hog producer has plans to produce up to 500,000 head of hogs annually and many other large operations are in the process of expanding.

Malaysia and Indonesia are also expanding feed grain production and livestock operations.

The simple fact is that the supporters of grain for humans instead of critters won't eat grain themselves if there is any way to be able to afford meat.

Vigorous economic growth in other countries will make them good markets for our feed grains and possibly for some of our livestock products.

The Nebraska Udall for President Committee is circulating a farm statement on behalf of its candidate.

The suggested policies are much the same as other Democratic efforts but there are some important ideas.

The group says Morris Udall will devise some method of protecting farmland from urban encroachment and development.

The group demands a government grain inspection program to end corrupt practices and the bad image of U.S. grain.

The plan includes a program designed to store reserve grain on or at least near the farm where it was produced.

The goal seems to be one of a stable price system that would protect both the consumer and the farmer.

That is a noble goal indeed; unfortunately, the goals of consumers and farmers tend to be so widely separated that they are difficult to achieve simultaneously.

You have to subsidize one or the other in the form of some kind of farm production payment or a consumer subsidy program such as the food stamp program.

Weekly Grain Report

By DOMINICK COSTELLO
Farm Editor

Several bits of good news for grain farmers last week were really better than the tiny increases in the grain prices they generated.

The sale of grain to Russia will restore some confidence in the administration's efforts to bolster grain prices, which had begun to sag under the pressure of the grain stocks and planting intentions reports.

President Ford told the farm editors convention that he would not establish an embargo of any agricultural commodity for the purpose of holding down the cost of living. That is a considerably stronger anti-embargo position than labor wanted, indicating Ford is interested in the farm voter.

The Canadian sale to Russia is even helpful. It reduces the amount of competitive grain in the world marketplace and should strengthen the market everywhere in the world.

We do have a lot of grain in this country, but there really isn't much grain in storage anywhere else in the world, so nations in the market for grain will have to come here for any large amount.

Farmer holding is keeping prices from drifting downward as much as they might have, considering the recent reports on planting intentions, heavy rains that broke the drought and the grain stocks reports.

Farmers have clearly demonstrated that they will sell grain at a reasonable price but not at a price below the cost of production.

USDA Proposes Changing Old Classes Of Wheat

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is proposing a number of changes in U.S. wheat standards to bring them in line with changes in production and marketing practices.

A copy of the proposed change and the current U.S. wheat standards can be obtained by writing to Grain Division, AMS, USDA,

Washington, D.C. 20250.

The proposed changes would establish a class called unclassified wheat. That would include the newly developed purple colored wheat and red durum wheat, which is no longer grown commercially in the U.S.

Inspection procedures would be modified to determine the amount of heat-damaged kernels, damaged kernels in total and foreign material in the wheat.

Three subclasses of hard red winter wheat would be dropped and the special grade of heavy wheat would be deleted.

Grade certificates would have to list percentages of western wheat, unclassified wheat and mixed wheat.

Wheat containing more than 0.1% ergot would be graded as ergot wheat.

The special grade of tough wheat would also be eliminated under the new standard.

Lawmakers Seek Re-election

Three members of Lancaster County's generally impressive legislative delegation are up for re-election this year.

Two candidates in each legislative district will be nominated May 11 for a run-off election in November.

In the Twenty-Ninth District, comprising much of south Lincoln, incumbent Sen. Shirley Marsh faces six challengers. Mrs. Marsh usually watches out for Lincoln's interests as a member of the Appropriations Committee, but in watching out for Lincoln she has still been able to maintain a balanced perspective on statewide problems and needs. Votes in favor of the downtown Omaha educational-office complex, a facility whose need we question and against reviving a major piece of environmental protection legislation, LB505, detract from her performance this last session.

Among the field of seven challenging for Mrs. Marsh's seat and deserving of voter consideration are Gerald Sasek, former chief engineer for the Nebraska Public Service Commission whose objective recommendations in rate cases and on behalf of formulating service standards infuriated some members of the commission and the telephone industry, and W. E. Pat Daugherty, a Lincoln businessman with considerable background in government service. Particular mention must be made of Sasek's all-around good work when a commission employee. It was a service to the consumer-rater but at the same time certainly not a disservice to industry.

In the Twenty-Fifth District Sen.

Jerome Warner of Waverly is running for his fifth term. Joining the veteran lawmaker in the race are Richard Hedrick of Waverly and Reginal Powers of Elmwood.

Warner has toiled in the trenches long and hard for such causes as highway improvement, increased state support for education and property tax relief during a distinguished legislative career. He has also been speaker of the Legislature and is one of its most respected members. Warner has done an outstanding job and is deserving of re-election.

Due special recognition is the progressive record of Sen. Steve Fowler, who is seeking re-election in the Twenty-Seventh District.

Fowler is chairman of the Unicameral's Urban Affairs Committee and especially in the last half of his first term has in his quiet way become a force to be reckoned with among his colleagues.

Fowler probably has as good a social conscience as anyone who serves at the Capitol.

He is concerned with the problems of the elderly, has been active in formulating the new correctional construction program, is a supporter of education, watches out for the interests of employees at the low end of the state pay scale and is strong on environmental protection.

Attorney Don Stenberg and former Nebraska education commissioner Cecil Stanley provide Fowler with stiff competition. Both appear to be competent candidates. But the incumbent's record is most difficult to argue with.

A Risky Business

The collapse of the Jackson presidential campaign, the decision by Hubert Humphrey to stay on the sidelines, and the uncertainty surrounding the Udall effort to gain the Democratic presidential nomination set the stage for a Jimmy Carter-Frank Church showdown in Nebraska next week.

Carter is riding a hot streak and is clearly favored here, but Church — the newest stop-Carter hope — is chipping away at the Carter lead. Church will come back to Nebraska Thursday and stay until the primary May 11. Carter has scheduled only a four-city Nebraska stop this coming Saturday. Hard work here this week could help Church close the gap.

Jackson's suspended campaigning leaves many of Nebraska's most prominent Democrats in the lurch. Gov. Jim Exon, legislative power Gene Mahoney, labor leader Bill Brennan and former state senator and congressional nominee Wayne Ziebarth are among the delegate candidates pledged to Jackson. Their chances of joining the Nebraska delegation to the Democratic National Convention as voting principals look awfully slim.

Nebraska Democrats tend toward single-mindedness in presidential primary voting. They tend to follow up the presidential candidate preference vote with votes for delegate candidates pledged to their liking. And even someone possessing the awesome vote-pulling capability of Gov. Exon can be powerless to overcome such voting habits.

The governor realistically assessed his shaky delegate position last week and philosophically observed that "people have an obligation to take stands where they feel the most comfortable. Clearly the governor and several other prominent Democrats felt the most comfortable supporting Scoop Jackson.

With Jackson low in the polls here and having suspended active campaigning, however, his political views must be of minimal comfort.

But that's the risk in politics and one of the things that makes it, for a lot of people, the only game in town.

JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Even as we celebrate the Bicentennial some of us have an uneasy sense that government of by and for the people is slipping away from us.

Events daily reinforce this uneasiness. The tax bite grows ever bigger except for favored interests while public services decay. The rapist and robber are forever being let free to prowl again by a legal system that seems impervious to the public demand that dangerous criminals stay locked up.

The residential neighborhood is regularly bulldozed under to make way for the office building or the highway extension, as though only the construction lobbies have the inside track on public decisions.

The businessman is almost hopelessly entangled in government red tape spun by a mindless process of bureaucratic accretion that all profess to deplore but none seems able to halt.

Meanwhile the government that so often seems rented out to the predators and power blocs also seems dried up of genuine ideas. Problems mount but of ficialdom gibbers and offers no solutions.

Despite failures that should humble the vainest the bureaucracy grows more arrogant more contemptuous of the public more given to entrenching itself in a labyrinthine fortress wherein it is impenetrable to the people and uncontrollable even by presidents and Congresses.

Thus has a tragic estrangement grown up between the citizenry and their government. A majority now believe that our institutions do not hear us do not serve us and do not want to serve us. Have we built a robot so complicated we cannot run it and it runs us?

It depends on what steps are taken now. Government can be made accountable even if it has to be dismantled bureau by bureau. The voice of the individual can be made to register once again.

True participation by the people in public decisions can be made not just a possibility but a prerequisite. Either we must now make these goals the key items on our national agenda, or we must write the epitaph of the American idea.

As a beginning we wish to offer a modest proposal. It springs from the fact that we have a line of daily communication with 50 million readers in close to 1,000 newspapers a line of communication that can be used to combat the individual citizen's despairing belief that no one in government is listening.

We have established a National Suggestion Box which will receive your ideas for the solution of national problems and the righting of governmental wrongs.

Millions of Americans have good ideas and valuable perspectives, which are sorely needed to revitalize the nation.

But they feel that they have no place to go with their ideas for the government has a special talent for resisting outside suggestions and giving people the runaround. So if you have an idea send it to the National Suggestion Box.

Here's what we'll do with it. We will publicize ideas of special merit. We will follow up these proposals urging their adoption. We cannot demand that your proposals be accepted. We can merely demand that they be considered.

To run this program, we have set up a small organization President Edward Pliszek of the Copernicus Society of America, a group devoted to good causes, has offered to help fund it. The rest is up to you. Write to us at the National Suggestion Box, Box 2009, Washington, D.C. 20013.

As a typical example, we have previously received suggestions that federal agencies should have to be renewed every four years. Those that become obsolete or unproductive should automatically die.

This would require the federal agencies to justify their re-establishment. It would offer a real incentive for citizens groups to monitor the bureaucracy and bring pressure to bear on Congress at the optimal time.

The idea has now been put into legislative form by Sen. Edmund Muskie D-Me. Similar ideas from the public should be presented and discussed. They may be grandiose schemes or small suggestions. Our intent is to open up a dialogue between the governed and their governors.

What we seek to do in a larger sense is to return government to the people and encourage Americans to rise as never before to the status of true citizenship. We must be more than regular taxpayers and sometime voters.

Wendell Berry, the Kentucky poet-farmer, has described what it will take to maintain a free and responsible society.

I have begun to understand citizenship in more complex terms. As I have come to see it, it requires devotion and dedication and a certain inescapable bewilderment and suffering.

"It needs all the virtues, all of one's attention, all the knowledge that one can gain and bring to bear, all the powers of one's imagination and conscience and feeling. It is the complete action. Rightly understood, its influence and concern permeate the whole society, from the children's bedroom to the capitol."

This is a tall order. But it may be the price of your freedom and it is assuredly the price of your children's freedom.

RON HENDREN

Maryland Primary On The Front Burner

GAITHERSBURG, Md. — Democrats here don't quite know what to make of California Governor Edmund G. Brown Jr.'s decision to buy tickets in Maryland's presidential sweepstakes lottery but they aren't complaining. If the 38-year-old bachelor from the West Coast wants to drop in and make a party out of what was shaping up to be a very dull affair, that's fine by them.

To give you an idea of how quiet it has been the only excitement generated in Maryland political circles so far this year has not been in the upcoming presidential primary but in the Eighth District race for Congress where veteran Kennedy McGovern advisor Frank Mankiewicz is running for the seat to be vacated by his neighbor Republican Gilbert Gude.

Mankiewicz, calling in chits from years past, has received enough endorsements from far-flung senators, congressmen and movie stars to guarantee his election — if only they could vote in Maryland — and most Eighth District residents love the attention the luminaries have showered on the contest for their local congressional seat.

Brown, who announced last week that he will make at least three trips to Maryland before the May 18 vote, is certain to give the rest of the state what Mankiewicz is giving the Eighth District. It will be the young governor's first trip outside California since his election a little more than a year ago, and the national press will be close at hand to see how his unusual political style, so popular in California, fares on the East Coast, where folks are not accustomed to governors who refuse to live in the executive mansion who cut their staff's salaries and who preach that people have to learn to accept less, not more, from their government.

Politicians here are taking no bets on how Brown will do like Carter a few weeks ago. He is too much of an unknown quantity as a vote-getter in this party of the country. But the make-up of Maryland suggests the Californian picked a good place to try. More than 70% of the vote here lies in populous Baltimore, Montgomery and Prince Georges Counties where the population is dense — either urban, or suburban bedroom communities — and hence, easily accessible.

None of the three is more than an hour away by car from Baltimore-Friendship Airport, where Brown will be coming in. And all three are saturated with local television news coverage, another strong plus for Brown who plans a heavily media-oriented campaign.

With only two weeks before the election and with almost no organization behind him in Maryland it is about as favorable a set-up as Brown could hope for. Moreover the remainder of Maryland's vote divided between the Chesapeake Bay and shore counties to the east and the mountain counties to the west is traditionally conservative and for the most part Republican. The Democrats who do live there might just take a liking to the conservative sound of Brown's rhetoric and if they do it would help him in the only area that counts in his case — the popular vote.

(Brown has not fielded a slate of delegates and is therefore only entered in the so-called beauty contest.)

One conclusion comforting to Maryland Governor Marvin Mandel and other organization Democrats can be drawn about Brown's entry into the race. It is likely that most of the votes he gets will be drawn from the ranks of people who otherwise would have voted for Jimmy Carter. Mandel, who has said privately he would like to see Hubert Humphrey as the nominee, has quietly been supporting Henry Jackson as an alternative.

But the short run goal of Mandel and other organization Democrats in the state is to see to it that Carter doesn't walk away with yet another win on May 18. Edmund G. Brown Jr. suits that goal just fine.

ON TARGET

By DON WALTON

Here they come. The President and his challengers in both parties are due to swoop down upon Nebraska this week and next.

Prepare yourself. You may be accosted at work in a shopping center in your barber's chair or at the beauty shop, or drinking a beer in some quiet bar. The only safe havens are probably your home or a movie theatre.

One thing in your favor. A candidate can't sneak up on you. You will see him coming — preceded, followed and surrounded by a retinue of Secret Service men, campaign aides, local supporters, newsmen, photographers and various hangers-on. It will look something like a walking disturbance.

You have two choices: run or valiantly hold your ground. Most citizens who choose the latter course survive. If you select the former option be sure to run away from the approaching bear. Running toward it could get you arrested.

Once the candidate is upon you the best course of action is to smile, shake hands and if necessary pretend that you recognize him. Be nice. Okay? They are our guests.

If the guys from the other party don't snap at him just let it pass. All right? He's been ripped by partisan so many times already that it just won't hurt him.

But you could have a little fun if you want to. The way to inject even more disorder into that walking disturbance is to ask the candidate a question about the time he reaches for your hand. Instant turmoil.

The buzzing knot of people will suddenly tighten. The eyes of the Secret Service, the press and aides will fix upon you, and you will be able to hear the whispers from the outer fringes of the mob ("What did he ask?").

And then the candidate will answer. The reply may flow forth like a taped recording if the question is a familiar one — and almost all of them are by now. Or the candidate may simply say, "Nice to see ya" and move on.

They are hard to fluster. At York a week ago Frank Church fielded one which he hadn't heard before and responded quickly — after waiting for the noise of a passing truck to subside.

"How would you change the school system to take care of kids right?" a freckle-faced fifth-grader asked him. "You'd better deal with your own teachers and parents in York on that one," Church laughed.

Local control.

Nebraska's presidential primary election may be in danger. A victim of overkill. As one of a manageable number of primaries in the past it has been the scene of some in-crowd campaigning by presidential hopefuls.

McGovern and Humphrey did it here in 1972. Robert Kennedy and Gene McCarthy in 1968. Nixon, Goldwater, John Kennedy, etc.

This year it will still attract the candidates. But with the exception of Church (whose primary efforts begin here) they have to reduce the amount of time which they can devote to Nebraska.

The reason 30 primaries many of them in states which are far more important politically than ours.

The spread of presidential primaries around the nation now threatens their continued existence. Too much of a good thing. Too expensive. And much too physically tortuous for the candidates.

Thus, there is likely to be a concerted drive toward regional primaries. And, if that happens, Nebraska is going to be lost in a regional primary which includes far more populous states. We could lose the personal attention which candidates have given us in the past.

So what? A lot of what I think Nebraska is relatively small and unimportant in presidential election terms.

Once the primary season is over Nebraska is virtually ignored by the presidential candidates. We might see one or both vice presidential nominees for a brief appearance — but that's about all.

The primary has offered us our one and only opportunity to get to know the candidates and, most important of all, to influence them. We may be presenting our views, our opinions, our concerns, our needs, our hopes and wants to the next president. And he may remember them when he enters the White House.

And that's important.

Sponsorship Needed

Lincoln, Neb. Nebraska football fans will remember them — the three 13-year-old pixies who tumbled, did acrobatics across the football field after touchdowns, and who generally entertained them on the sidelines before, during the games and at half-time. But the fans probably aren't aware that these girls are three of a five-member team of The Nebraska School of Gymnastics directed by Francis Allen and coached by Judy Schalk. They have studied from five to seven years and are getting good! So good that three of them — Terry Furman, Pam Doyle and Kim Grabowski — have qualified for the Junior Olympics May 15 in Minneapolis. Kim Grabowski just past weekend qualified at the Regional IV Meet in Lincoln for the National Meet of the U.S. Federation of Gymnasts to be held May 6-8 in Eugene, Oregon. She's the second girl ever to qualify from Nebraska.

The team needs sponsors. They need support because they are qualifying for impressive competitions and so few Nebraskans know anything about them to know that their support is needed.

If the name Olga Korbut means anything, if watching her on TV rings a bell, then fans will have some idea of what the girls are trying with some three to five hours a day of practice to perfect on the balance beam, the vault, parallel bars and the floor exercise.

For those who enjoyed these girls and their contributions to the thrills of Saturday home games, those who want to show some support for their growing talent and want to see Nebraska represented next week in the national competition — the pressing need is now!

Donations should be sent immediately to Booster Club c/o Vern Roschewski, First Federal Savings. Let's do what we can to show the old Nebraska spirit for these budding gymnasts.

Doctors Told Stay In Political Arena

Kearney (AP) — State Sen Loran Schmit told Nebraska doctors Sunday they must remain active in the political arena to protect the public welfare in medicine.

He spoke at the annual meeting of the Nebraska Medical Association.

Schmit, who introduced and guided to passage the medical malpractice insurance bill in the recent legislative session, complimented the physicians' organization for their leadership in taking the initiative for a remedy for the malpractice insurance problem.

He said, "No other group or body took the responsibility to meet the need for action and had the Medical Association not acted, the public would have been the loser."

Sen Schmit, of Bellwood, said medicine has made so much progress that today people expect to be cured of almost every disease and to be restored to normal functioning regardless of what happens to them.

"This is a compliment to the progress medicine has made but it has led to some big problems for you too," he said.

Schmit said America is the world's center for medicine and medical research because research is unhampered by government domination, unlike Omaha (AP) — Search continued Sunday for a man who held up the Mid-City Bank of Omaha and escaped with an undetermined amount of cash Saturday.

Police said the man, about 27 or 28 years old, entered the bank during the afternoon. Though he did not show a gun, a bulge under his jacket led employees to believe he was armed.

The man approached a teller, dropped a bag on the counter and demanded it be filled with money. Police said the teller did so and the man fled.

The bank has been held up two other times since January of 1975.

Postal Officials Choose Spencer

Paul Spencer of Omaha was elected Sunday as president of the Nebraska Association of Postal Supervisors. The association held its 46th annual convention in Lincoln.

Three Fatalities Raise Traffic Toll To 86

By The Associated Press

Three deaths Friday raised Nebraska's 1975 traffic fatality toll to 86, compared to 96 last year.

A man and a youth died in a one-car mishap in Gage County and a 4-year-old Scottsbluff girl was killed in a pedestrian-vehicle mishap.

The Gage County sheriff's office said the victims of the accident on a county road one mile north of Odell late Friday night were Edmond L. Lessley, 22, the driver and John Hagemeyer, 16, both of Beatrice.

Officers said the southbound car went out of control on a curve and rolled several times.

Scottsbluff police said Maureen Paz, daughter of Louise Paz, died when she was struck by a car driven by Pamela Hergenreder, 16, of Scottsbluff.

Police said the little girl ran into the car's path in a residential area of Scottsbluff. The victim was pronounced dead shortly afterwards at a hospital.

Mother Thinks Missing Boy Kidnaped

Omaha (AP) — The mother of an Omaha boy missing since Thursday evening believes he was kidnaped.

Jay W. Durnil, 11, disappeared after leaving his home west of the Elkhorn River. Two days of searching failed to find a clue.

Mrs. Wanda Durnil has offered $5,000 reward for information leading to his safe return.

She said Saturday, "If anyone does have him we're willing to negotiate anything."

MERIT!

'Enriched Flavor' process prompts unprecedented response to taste of new low tar MERIT.

Smokers are talking about a new kind of cigarette.

It's MERIT. The remarkable new low tar cigarette made with the 'Enriched Flavor' process.

MERIT has only 9 mg. tar. One of the lowest tar levels in smoking today. Yet, taste tests proved that MERIT delivers as much—or more—flavor than cigarettes having up to 60% more tar.

If you smoke, you'll be interested in what people like yourself are writing to us about MERIT.

"Thanks to all of you for discovering 'enriched flavor!'"

—Sheldon M. Weisman
Dallas, Texas

"As far as I'm concerned, Merit has them all beat for taste and flavor.... It puts all other low tar and nicotine cigarettes to shame."

—Nicholas J. Matera
Newark, New Jersey

"It's very seldom that a product really impresses me, but Merit filters are great."

—Skip Anderson
Millstadt, Illinois

"The eight friends I have introduced to MERIT have asked me to include their thanks for your new product."

—Paul J. Weiss
Long Island City, New York

"Merit should be called the T.T.T. Cigarette (True Tobacco Taste)."

—J. W. McLeod
Manning, South Carolina

"Low tar cigarettes were out of the question, had tried 'em, and, as far as I was concerned, they were a smoker's joke. And along came Merit."

—Ms. Christie Pavoni
Memphis, Tennessee

"Today a friend handed me a complimentary pack of Merit. I'm delighted!"

—Carolyn Perdue
North Miami Beach, Florida

"I've tried all the low tar and nicotine cigarettes without finding a winner, until now.... MERIT is definitely a winner."

—Mr. Raymond L. Rubin
Milwaukee, Wisconsin

"Finally, a good tasting cigarette low in tar and nicotine. And you feel like you're smoking something besides air."

—Susan Wilmington
Chicago, Illinois

"Finally someone has made a low tar and nicotine cigarette that is really good."

—Ms. Joan Connelly
Livonia, Michigan

"MERIT Menthols provide a very satisfying taste and I am sure I will be smoking this brand from now on."

—Mrs. Margaret Hargan
Memphis, Tennessee

"Three cheers for Merit! I don't know how you did it, but congratulations."

—Mrs. Samuel Garre III
Barrington, Illinois

"I've tried other low tar brands as they came on the market, but they all lacked something. Merit has that something the others lacked."

—G. E. Noble
Orlando, Florida

"Keep up the good work. A good slogan for MERIT might be 'do yourself a favor while lighting up enriched flavor'."

—Norris E. Rawhouser
Menomonee, Wisconsin

"Congratulations—they really do taste good. Great work!"

—Mr. Robert Baker
Kenilworth, New Jersey

Curtis Lauds Managers At Elwood Dam Ceremonies

Elwood (AP) — Sen. Carl Curtis paid tribute Sunday to the men and women presently managing the affairs of the Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District and who are building the Elwood Dam.

The Nebraska Republican spoke at the groundbreaking ceremonies for the dam.

In remarks prepared for the occasion, Curtis said the "reservoir that will be created (by the dam) will constitute a lake of 1,180 surface acres holding 23,500 acre feet of water.

This will supply supplemental irrigation water for 33,642 acres which at present are receiving only a partial amount of their needs. It will add full water service to another 9,150 acres. In other words, it will benefit a total of 42,800 acres."

Besides meaning much to the agricultural economy of the area, Sen. Curtis said it will add to Nebraska's recreation facilities. Current plans call for a boat launch ramp, facilities for those visiting the dam, and fishing opportunities.

"These plans will be expanded," he said. "I am sure that there will be substantial additional recreation developments that will be made by the district. These recreation facilities will add to the quality of life in our state. It will also bring about a considerable amount of business."

Sen. Curtis noted that the late Sen. George Norris of Nebraska accomplished many things and is known for a number of his contributions.

"I am thoroughly convinced that his greatest contribution was the work he performed in bringing irrigation to Nebraska and particularly the initiating of the Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation project that serves this area," he said.

Dutton-Lainson Plans Building

Norfolk (AP) — The Dutton-Lainson Co. of Hastings has announced plans to build an office and warehouse facility in Norfolk.

The building will serve as a supply warehouse and local service point for the electrical and plumbing departments of the company's wholesale division.

Dutton-Lainson's wholesale division handles hardware, electrical equipment, plumbing and building supplies.

The company's manufacturing division produces marine and industrial products.

The announcement did not say when the facility will be built in Norfolk.

New Complex In Old Market Put On Hold

Omaha (AP) — A proposed business and apartment complex in the city's Old Market section has been put on the "back burner" because of financial problems.

Concept planner Vern Cagle said current high interest rates and long-term mortgage positions made the project "financially unsound."

Cagle said he would have to borrow $2 million to renovate a leased warehouse. The project was originally scheduled to open in September.

The five-story complex was to include a number of shops, offices and apartments. Plans could be rekindled if the money market changes, Cagle said.

Smith Says Hearings Show OSHA Realizes Problems

WASHINGTON (AP)—The public hearings proposed by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) indicate they are finally becoming aware regulations imposed on business and industry aren't working, Rep. Virginia Smith said Sunday.

Mrs. Smith said she had received notification of these public hearings in June and July for several major cities across the country with the closest ones to Nebraska being in Davenport, Iowa and Denver.

"OSHA established their regulations five years ago and its taken them this long to figure out why business and industry isn't able to comply totally," Mrs. Smith said.

The 3rd District representative said she hoped every business and industry leader would attend these hearings and express their views. For those who can't attend, Mrs. Smith said she would be glad to receive comments and would make sure they are made a part of the official OSHA record.

"This is the best way to let the OSHA officials know exactly how to rewrite the regulations into a form which not only can be complied with easily, but will also pertain to the largest as well as the smallest business without undue hardship or penalty to either," she said.

Omaha Voters Face Bond Issue, Charter Amendments On May 11

Omaha (AP) — Omaha voters will decide May 11 whether $54 million in bonds will be issued over five years to improve streets, sewers and bridges.

The amount includes about $24 million in state and federal matching grants that officials say would come to Omaha. To get the grants, Omahans must approve $30 million in bond issues.

Mayor Edward Zorinsky has said he is optimistic that the proposals will be approved.

There is no organized opposition to the bond issues. A citizens group, however, is pushing their passage.

Also May 11, Omahans will be asked to vote on three City Charter amendments.

One would extend from two weeks to four weeks the time from election to inauguration of city officials. Proponents say two weeks is just not long enough for an orderly transition of government.

Another proposal would allow the president and vice president of the City Council to be chosen annually, instead of once each four years.

The third proposal would clarify personnel sections of the Charter.

Douglas Voter Registration Down 5%; Commissioner Can't Understand Drop

Omaha (AP) — Election Commissioner Mike Boyle says Douglas County voter registration for the May 11 primary is down 5% from the primary two years ago.

Shortly before registration closed Friday, 183,049 persons were registered, compared with 192,641 for the 1974 primary.

Boyle said he "can't quite put my finger on" the reason for the registration decrease.

"We have a hotly contested congressional seat on the Republican side and a hotly contested Senate seat on the Democratic side," Boyle said. "We also have an incumbent President with an opponent and eleven names on the Democratic presidential ballot."

In light of the lower figures, Boyle said, he may predict a record low turnout for the primary.

On the Democratic side, 101,026 persons registered, down 4.2% from the 1974 primary.

Registered Republicans in the county totaled 71,548, down slightly more than 7% from two years ago.

Boyle said independents numbered 10,469, down nearly 200, and six persons registered in the American Party.

Wagons On Barges, Pilgrims Truckin' On

Omaha (AP) — Thirteen covered wagons were loaded aboard river barges Saturday but not the horses and "pilgrims" that have moved the wagons since last summer along the Oregon Trail to Omaha.

Federal regulations prevent people and livestock from riding the barges. Instead, they will be transported by truck along river routes to Pittsburgh, Pa., where the wagon train will be reassembled.

It will then travel by land for arrival at Valley Forge, Pa., on July 4.

Named the Bicentennial Pennsylvania Wagon Train Pilgrimage, it includes 90 persons and four dozen horses. The wagon train is one of five crossing the nation.

The barges will dock for occasional appearances during the 2,000 mile journey down the Missouri River and up the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers to Pittsburgh.

GOP Primary Will Be Topic Of Conference

Former Govs. Robert Crosby and Val Peterson, who are delegates committed to President Ford in the May 11 Nebraska Primary, will hold a news conference Monday in Lincoln.

Crosby said the news conference was called to discuss the Republican presidential primary between Ford and former California Gov. Ronald Reagan and "the delegate situation."

Crosby said the news conference will be at 10 a.m.

Fellman said, "There are places that can be properly found to house corrections centers" as called for in a law passed by the 1975 Nebraska Legislature.

Fellman said the center sites could be "in the near-downtown area, where there are older apartment buildings in nonresidential settings."

Omaha Center Is Possible — Fellman

Omaha (AP) — A corrections center for Omaha could be developed if properly planned, former State Sen. Richard Fellman of Omaha said.

He disputed Sen. Roland Luedtke of Lincoln, who criticized the State Crime Commission for failing to take action on the plan Friday.

"The Crime Commission never decided the issue," Fellman said. "It was the corrections director (Joseph Vitek) who properly recognized the local community had not been consulted."

Vitek withdrew his application to the commission for a $450,000 pilot project to establish four neighborhood corrections centers in Omaha.

Creighton U GOP Group Backs Reagan

Omaha (AP) — The Young Republicans of Creighton University have endorsed Ronald Reagan for the Republican nomination for President.

In an overwhelming vote, the Young Republicans agreed to do anything they could to help elect Reagan.

Chairman Mike Walsh of the YR's of Creighton said, "We feel that Ronald Reagan must be elected to insure that the United States can once again be the strongest nation in the world."

He said Reagan has proven himself as an effective "and honorable leader" by his record in California as governor.

Walsh said Reagan promised to trim the government bureaucracy in California and was successful, adding "We are confident he could do the same thing for our federal government."

Naval Official To Visit UNL

Gary D. Peniston, assistant secretary of the Navy, will visit the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Tuesday for the Navy ROTC spring change of command ceremonies.

A Lincoln native and 1953 graduate, Peniston will also participate in a college of business administration student forum and will speak to the Rotary Club and Lincoln Navy League.

Janel Harr Wins

Janel Harr of Sidney, a junior at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, has been awarded the Dean Helen Snyder Scholarship.

The bidding:

East South West North
Pass 1 NT Pass 4 ♣
Pass 4♥

Opening lead — king of clubs.

The Texas convention is an ingenious gadget that can be used by the partner of a player who opens the bidding with one or more notrumps. Its chief purpose is to make the strong hand declarer in a suit contract. It works in this fashion: If the responder bids four clubs, the opener is required to bid four hearts. If the responder, instead, bids four diamonds, the opener must bid four spades. Basically, it is a transfer bid designed to make the strong hand declarer in the right contract.

This deal occurred some years ago in a match between Great Britain and the United States. When Reese and Schapiro, using the English version of the Texas convention, held the North-South cards, they got to four hearts in the manner shown. The American West led the king of clubs and shifted to a spade. Schapiro later lost two diamond tricks and made four for a score of 620 points.

At the other table, with an American pair North-South, the bidding went:

East South West North
Pass 1 NT Pass 4♥

Here North became declarer and the contract was quickly defeated after East led his singleton diamond. West won with the queen, cashed the king of clubs and ace of diamonds, and gave East a diamond ruff to put the contract down one — 100 points.

The hand was a dramatic triumph for the Texas convention. There is no question about the theoretical advantage of using transfer bids, but there is one serious drawback. Occasionally, a player forgets that he and his partner have agreed to use the convention and, as a result, a horrible catastrophe takes place.

Motorcade Saw

Waco, Tex. (UPI) — A young man at Baylor University bared himself fore and aft as President Ford's limousine drove past the Baptist College campus.

The blond youth, standing in front of a campus men's residence, turned his back on the President and pulled down his pants. Then he turned and grinned.

Another male student reached over and ripped down his shorts, leaving the young man wearing only a ten-gallon hat and his smile.

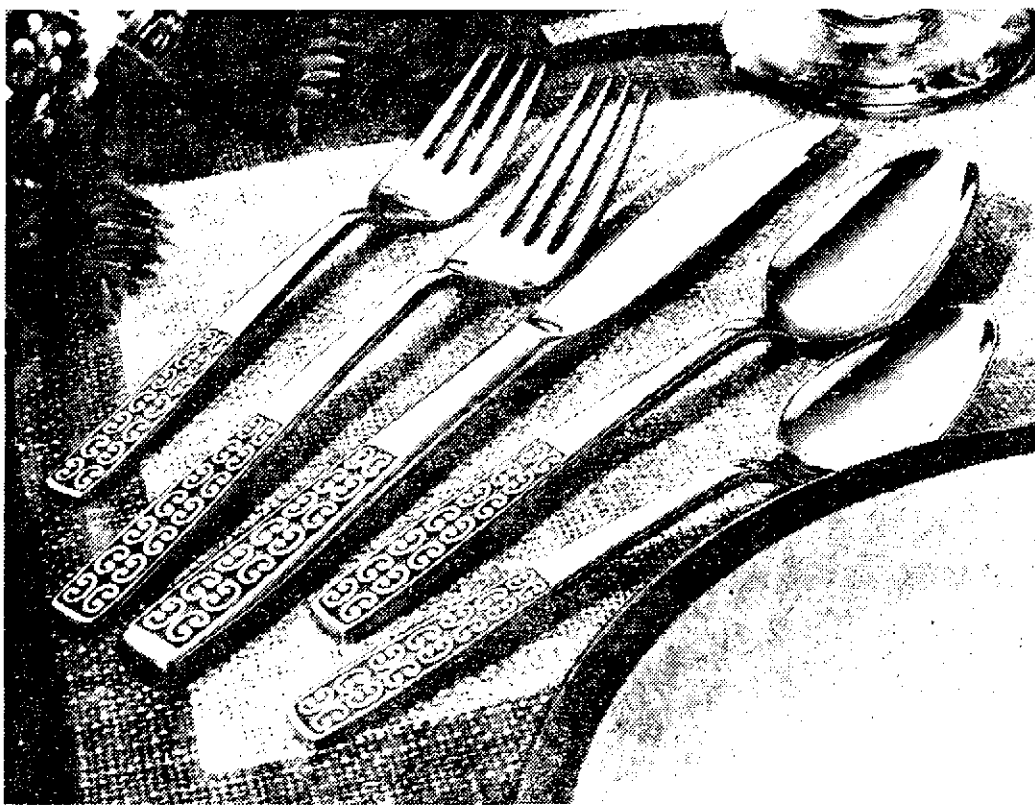

Persons in the presidential motorcade saw the display but there was no indication Ford did.

Keep Cans Away From Heat

When storing cans place them on lower shelves away from heat as Esther Wyant extension agent demonstrates. Also use first in first out method that grocers always employ

Open Cans Safe In Refrigerator

Contrary to general belief, it is perfectly safe to store food in an open can in the refrigerator

A study of the attitudes of young homemakers toward canned foods conducted for the National Canners Association about a year and a half ago revealed that nine out of 10 respondents believed it is risky to store food in an open can, and two-thirds of the respondents expressed concern about the safety of dented cans

According to a panel of experts of the Del Monte Kitchens consumers should remember that the inside of a can is sterile until it is opened and is probably safer than any other container available in the kitchen

However the experts note that the practice isn't recommended for more than about two days. Although for that period of time there is no health hazard, eating quality may suffer

For example, acidic foods such as pineapple and tomatoes can pick up a metallic flavor which may be avoided by transferring the product from the can to a clean glass or plastic container

As to the danger of dented cans it depends on the severity of the dent. According to the study, small dents on the can body have no effect whatsoever on the can contents. But dents on the side or end seams can be a danger signal. The major consideration is whether the dent bursts the can, causes a leak or

Temperature and time are the key factors in food preservation with insured safety

Under poor storage conditions, foods held too long often spoil and some kinds of spoilage are harmful to health. Others are not. But it isn't always possible to distinguish between the two kinds.

Indications of spoilage which make food unpalatable but not hazardous to health are the rancid odor and flavor of fats caused by oxidation, slime on the surface of meat, and the fermentation of fruit juices due to yeast growth.

Signals indicating dangerous bacterial spoilage are off-odors in foods and a sour taste in bland foods.

Different types of food require various degrees of temperature and moisture necessary to retain quality in storage.

Cold Delays Spoilage
For example, low temperatures are required in the storage of many perishable foods. Low temperatures retard quality losses and delay spoilage by slowing the action of enzymes naturally present and by slowing the growth of spoilage organisms that may be present.

According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the hazard in storing foods comes from holding them for any length of time at temperatures in the danger zone — between 60 and 125 degrees Fahrenheit.

Foods should never be held in this temperature zone for more than two or three hours because of rapid growth of bacteria and production of toxins by some bacteria.

Although most fresh, perishable foods keep longest and best in the refrigerator, certain varieties of apples and some root vegetables keep well in a cool basement or outdoor cellar or pit. Some fruits and vegetables can be kept successfully at room temperatures for brief periods.

Growth Still Possible
When temperatures drop below 60 degrees into the 40 to 60 degree F category, some growth of food poisoning bacteria is still possible.

But in most refrigerators, with the control set for normal operation, the temperature in the general storage area is usually below 40 degrees F. If the temperature when checked with a thermometer registers above 40 degrees, the control should be regulated to maintain a reading below that point.

In storing cooked meat, poultry or fish, the temperature of the food should be above 140 degrees or below 40 degrees to prevent growth of bacteria or production of toxins.

2 Hours Tops
Cooked meat and fish to be eaten cold or after reheating should be refrigerated promptly and cold cuts should be stored in a refrigerator or cooler — never at room temperatures for more than two or three hours.

Cooked meat poultry stuffing and gravy should be frozen if they are to be kept for longer than a few days.

Vegetables and fruits that are to be stored should be handled carefully to prevent damage. If damaged or infected garden products are placed in storage, serious losses are likely to occur.

The freezing compartments of

Home-family

home refrigerators are not designed to give a temperature of 0 degrees F — which is the temperature necessary for prolonged storage of frozen foods.

In refrigerator freezers where temperature can be maintained at zero degrees, in the freezer cabinet food may be kept for the same storage periods as in a regular freezer.

dear abby

DEAR ABBY: Since January 1, 1974 I have sent 911 greeting cards — not counting Christmas and Easter cards. (I sent 3,455 of those.) I mean get-well, sympathy, birthday, graduation, wedding anniversary and new baby cards.

I go through our local newspaper to be sure I haven't overlooked a birth engagement, accident or death. I am on a limited income and can't afford to send presents, but I spend as much time shopping for appropriate cards as most people do in the selection of gifts.

My question: Aren't people supposed to acknowledge cards? Only 32 out of the 911 people I sent cards to bothered to let me know that they received them. I am listed in the telephone directory. Am I wrong to expect thanks?

DEAR IGNORED: Well-bred people acknowledge cards with a telephone call, a note or a verbal

Recipients Should Acknowledge Cards

"thank you" — should they see the giver before they have the opportunity to call or write. However, the giver who is motivated by genuine thoughtfulness will send the card and forget it.

To keep a ledger on "thanks receivable" suggests that the giver is unduly interested in placing the burden of gratitude on casual acquaintances. Still, the laziness and boorishness of those who fail to acknowledge a thoughtful gesture is inexcusable.

Survey Shows Ford Trailing Both Carter And Humphrey

By LOUIS HARRIS

In the latest Harris Survey, conducted just before the Pennsylvania primary, President Ford trailed both former Gov. Jimmy Carter and Minn. Sen. Hubert Humphrey in pairings for the November election. Carter led Ford by a 47-43% margin, and Humphrey headed the President by a narrow 47-46% edge.

For Carter, these latest results represent a major gain from his March showing in the Harris Survey when he trailed the President by 49-42%. For Humphrey, his one-point edge reflects no change from his 48-47% margin in March. Thus, Carter has been gaining momentum as he rolled up his impressive showing in the primary contests.

In a third pairing, President Ford holds a 48-38% lead over Gov. Jerry Brown of California, who has now announced that he will campaign for the Democratic nomination outside his home state. Brown's showing is quite impressive in view of the fact that he is still unknown to 47% of the electorate. To be sure, he is uniformly weaker against the President than Carter or

Louis Harris
Carter Gaining

Humphrey. But in the West, where he is best known, he holds a clear 53-40% lead. This is particularly impressive, for Carter loses that region to President Ford by 50-39% and Humphrey trails there by 51-41%. Whether Brown can advance his national standing when he campaigns in the rest of the country remains to be seen.

The Carter and Humphrey patterns are different, indicating that in making their ultimate choice, the Democrats will have to decide what kind of election they want to run. Carter now holds a convincing 55-38% lead

Midwest, but runs behind in the South by 49-43% and in the West by 51-41%.

Carter holds a slim 46-45% lead among white voters and adds to his total by winning the support of blacks by 59-28%. Humphrey loses the white vote by 49-44%, but racks up a massive 72-17% margin among blacks to eke out his lead over President Ford.

Carter holds the President down to a 53-40% lead among conservatives, wins the middle-of-the-road vote by 46-45% and gains his winning margin by taking the liberal vote 59-35%. Humphrey loses the conservative vote by 61-35% and the middle-of-the-road vote by 49-45%, but sweeps the liberal vote by 68-29%.

Carter wins the Catholic vote by a narrow 46-42% and the Jewish vote by 49-31%, but loses the white Protestant vote to the President by 49-45%. By contrast, Humphrey loses the WASP vote by a wider 58-37%, but wins the vote of Catholics by 52-39% and that of Jews by an overwhelming 76-17%.

It is apparent that Carter appeals much more to conservatives, independents, white Protestants and most of all to southerners than Humphrey does. On the other hand, the Minnesota senator depends on more traditional Democratic majorities among blacks, other minorities, liberals and lower income voters.

Carter is putting together a totally new coalition for the Democrats in modern times, while Humphrey is relying on the old New Deal coalition.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplante

San Francisco — "While strolling in the park one day, "In the merry, merry month of May . . ."

At the beginning of their teens, all girls are warned by mother: "Always wear clean underwear. You might be in an accident and taken to a hospital." Mother is not concerned with her son's skivvies — the kid could be wearing no underwear at all. Like a losing horse player. No it is the teen-age daughter who is warned to put the panties through the launderette. Or is it panty hose? (I haven't kept up my research lately but I've been writing a book.) Why an accident that takes you to a hospital? Consider other reasons: Suppose daughter tripped over a curb and exposed grimy underwear to all downtown.

"May is a month for philosophers," said the essayist Grimsby one philosophical day in London. (Now there's a grimy town. You should change all your clothes every day in London. Never mind the hospital.) Nothing more philosophical than mother's advice to Daughter.

On such sunny days of May it would seem more practical for mother to let daughter wear grubby underwear.

Tell the daughter: "Remember, you have on your scruffiest underwear. So for heaven's sake don't get hit by a car. Look both ways when you're crossing streets."

This would give daughter an incentive to take care of herself. Keep out of harm's way. What is more important to mother? What the intern thinks of daughter's underwear? ("Oh, the family shame of it!") Or of daughter herself?

The hospital-and-underwear concern of mama has been told to me by so many women that it cannot be a phobia of only one mother.

Maybe not universal. Lots of places girls don't wear any underwear. Where it's too hot. Tahiti, for instance.

It happens all over the U.S. though. In New York and in San Francisco. From Alabama to the state of Maine.

Across the wide Missouri, mamas worry about the horrid fate of daughter, brought to the hospital in yesterday's underwear.

Scott, Celtics Oust Buffalo From Playoffs

Buffalo (AP) — Boston's big center, Dave Cowens, was held to 10 points Sunday, but guard Charlie Scott took up the slack and scored 31 as the Celtics beat Buffalo 104-100 and eliminated the Braves from the National Basketball Association playoffs.

Boston won the best-of-seven series 4-2 and now will meet Cleveland for the Eastern Conference title.

Cowens noted after the game that the Braves held him to only 12 shots. "Everywhere I went, somebody was there," he said.

Scott, whose fourth-quarter spurge of 13 points, brought the Celtics from behind, said, "I knew I was going well. The basketball was feeling good in my hands on the jump shot."

Scott, who had shot only 38 per cent in the first five games, said the Celtics "weren't going inside at all this game because the Braves were double-teaming Cowens."

"We were able to diversify and go someplace else," Scott said. "I had the opportunity to drive down the middle of the lane."

Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn said Scott "played well for us all year . . . He's part of a ball club now and he did a heckuva job for us."

This is Scott's first season with the Celtics. He came to the team after last season in a trade with Phoenix for Paul Westphal.

Scott said, "I've been doing everything they've asked me. The first five games, they didn't ask me to score. I was only taking 12 or 13 shots a game, and you're not going to score a lot when you take 12 or 13 shots."

Scott said Heinsohn "never said anything to me about the way I was playing. As long as the coach didn't say anything, I figured I was doing all right."

Scott combined with Jo Jo White for 54 Boston points.

Scott's 31 points, 13 in the final quarter, and White's 23-point effort helped the Celtics to their fourth and clinching victory against two losses in the best-of-seven quarter-final series. The Celtics now will meet Cleveland in the semi-finals.

The Braves led at halftime, 55-50, and were in front by as many as nine points during the third period of the nationally televised contest, played before 16,261 fans at Memorial Auditorium.

Down 80-77 at the start of the fourth period, the Celtics went in front to stay 81-80 on Scott's 18-foot jump shot with about two minutes gone in the frame.

Paul Silas dropped in a layup for the Celtics and Don Nelson tossed in another field goal, and suddenly, the Celtics were ahead by five. Buffalo closed within one point at 85-84, then the Celtics pulled away and led by as many as 10, at 100-90, with four minutes left in the game.

Buffalo moved to within four points, 102-98, with less than a minute left, then Scott sank a free throw before Bob McAdoo drove down the lane for a field goal with only 12 seconds remaining that left the Braves three points behind.

Scott then dropped in another free throw that made the final score 104-100.

McAdoo was Buffalo's top scorer with 28 points, and Randy Smith added 24.

Buffalo led in shooting percentages, hitting 50 per cent from the floor and 83 per cent from the free throw line, compared with Boston's 46 per cent from the floor and 64 per cent at the line.

The Braves, however, had 23 turnovers, six more than the Celtics. Boston also out-rebounded the Braves 43-41, Paul Silas grabbing 18 and center Dave Cowens 16.

The game was tied seven times in the first quarter before three straight baskets by White, Scott and John Havlicek put the Celtics ahead 20-15. McAdoo kept the Braves in the game, sinking four field goals before the quarter ended with Boston ahead 30-27.

The Braves went in front 38-36 in the second quarter on three unanswered goals by Ernie DiGregorio, John Shumate and Don Adams. The Celtics tied it at 38-38 and 40-40, then Buffalo went ahead again on Smith's jumper. The Braves held the lead until the Celtics took command in the fourth period.

Janet Lake has only her shadow to beat as she crosses the finish line in winning the 100-yard dash during Sunday's state women's college track meet at Ed Weir Track. Kearney State captured the Nebraska title.

Foster Keeps Winning

By DAVE SITTLER

About the only thing that's changed in the track life of Charlie Foster is the gender of his athletes.

Instead of the men's team at Kearney State, Foster now coaches the women tracksters.

Other than that, everything is just the same. Foster's latest team is just like all the rest, it's talented, has superior depth, is powerful and — like all Foster teams — it wins big.

The Antelope women's team showed Sunday it has all the ingredients of former Foster teams as it won the Nebraska women's state college track championship by a staggering 91 points over second place Nebraska.

So dominate were the Antelopes, that they won 12 of the 14 events while scoring 125½ points. Nebraska's 36½ total was a distant second while Doane was third with 13, Concordia fourth with 11, UNO fifth with 9, Chadron sixth with 1 while Peru failed to score.

"We thought we had a chance to win all the events," said Foster, who coached the men's track team at Kearney for 26 years. "When we enter a meet we plan to compete as tough as we can in every event."

The meet, held at Nebraska's Ed Weir Stadium, was hampered by strong winds and cool temperatures.

"I'm really sorry the weather couldn't have been a little better," Foster said. "My girls are capable of a lot better marks than they had today."

Despite the poor conditions, 12 of the winning marks were better than Nebraska AIAW standards.

One of the most impressive performances of the day was in the high jump. Kearney State junior Marilyn Wiese sailed 5-8 to snap the old record of 5-4.

"She almost made 5-10 but a strong gust of wind hit her just when she was approaching the bar," Foster said. "That's not bad for a girl whose best jump in high school was 5-1."

Wiese is a prime example of the coaching genius Foster used to gain several national champions while handling the men's program at Kearney State.

Forced into retirement when he reached 65 years of age in 1972, Foster decided to start a women's track program at Kearney and has won the state title every year since.

"I enjoy working with the girls as much as the boys," Foster said. "They work and compete just as hard as the boys."

Foster thinks he might have three possible candidates for the Olympic trials in Wiese, and quartermilers Karol McKenzie and Danis Gerdes.

"We are hoping they can qualify for the Olympic trials during the national AIAW meet in two weeks," Foster said. "They have a good chance."

The only winners who were not competing for Kearney State Sunday were Nebraska's Pam Koontz who set a new record in the discus with a heave of 133-8 and Doane's Sharon Butler who captured the shot with a toss of 39-0-4.

Elder Convinces Elder He's Big Winner Again

HOUSTON (AP) — Lee Elder had finished his day's work. He was in the locker room, his shoes off and his feet propped in front of a television set. And he watched happily as his would-be challengers backed off.

Their failure on the course while Elder waited in the locker room let Lee take the title Sunday in the $200,000 Houton Open Golf Tournament. He became a winner again—and again eligible for the Masters—in ease and comfort.

"I don't like to think I backed in," he said, "but I'll take a victory any way I can get it."

He paused and offered a broad smile.

"It just goes to show, if you keep the faith, baby, anything can happen."

Then he let his thoughts drift to Augusta, Ga., and the storied Masters, where he created a world-wide sensation a year ago when he became the first black ever to play in that Old South stronghold.

He missed the cut in the 1975 Masters.

"I've thought about it an awful lot," said Elder, a one-time cross-handed golf hustler in his native Dallas.

"I wanted to prove to myself that I could win again. I'm very elated."

"And now I want to prove to myself, and the rest of the world that was watching Lee Elder at Augusta that Lee Elder is a much better player than he showed the first time."

With the schedule and pairings juggled by the rain that washed out Thursday's play, Elder had completed Sunday's double round of 36 holes with scores of 67-69 more than an hour ahead of hulking rookie George Burns who blew a clear lead over his last seven holes and let Elder win the golf tournament in the easy comfort and solitude of the Woodlands Country Club lockerroom.

Elder had scored a crucial birdie on his final hole—the ninth since he played the final 18 in reverse order most of the time out of the range of the national television cameras—just about the time Burns was making the turn. From then on it was just a matter of how well the big guy could hang on.

And Burns lost it in the stretch.

Elder, who created a worldwide sensation when he became the first black to play in the Masters in 1975, became eligible for a second appearance in that Old South classic in Augusta, Ga., with a 10-under-par 72-hole total of 278.

"This is really important," the 41-year-old Elder said, "because it gets me back to the Masters."

"I don't think that was Lee Elder at the Masters the last time."

Elder, the object of international attention and playing under incredible pressure, failed to qualify for the final two rounds in his 1975 Masters appearance and was bitterly disappointed by his lack of success.

"I kept telling myself that if I can get back to Augusta, if I get another chance, I think I can represent myself a little better."

Elder, the first man off the tee, came to his 72nd hole at nine under par and said: "I knew if I was to have a chance to win, I had to make birdie."

He did. He lofted his approach some 4-5 feet from the cup and ran in the putt. That put him 10 under par, one back of Burns and his day's work was over. All he could do was wait and hope.

He was in the press room for an interview and was talking about his early flight home to Washington, D.C. when Burns bogeyed the 12th, falling back into a tie for the top spot.

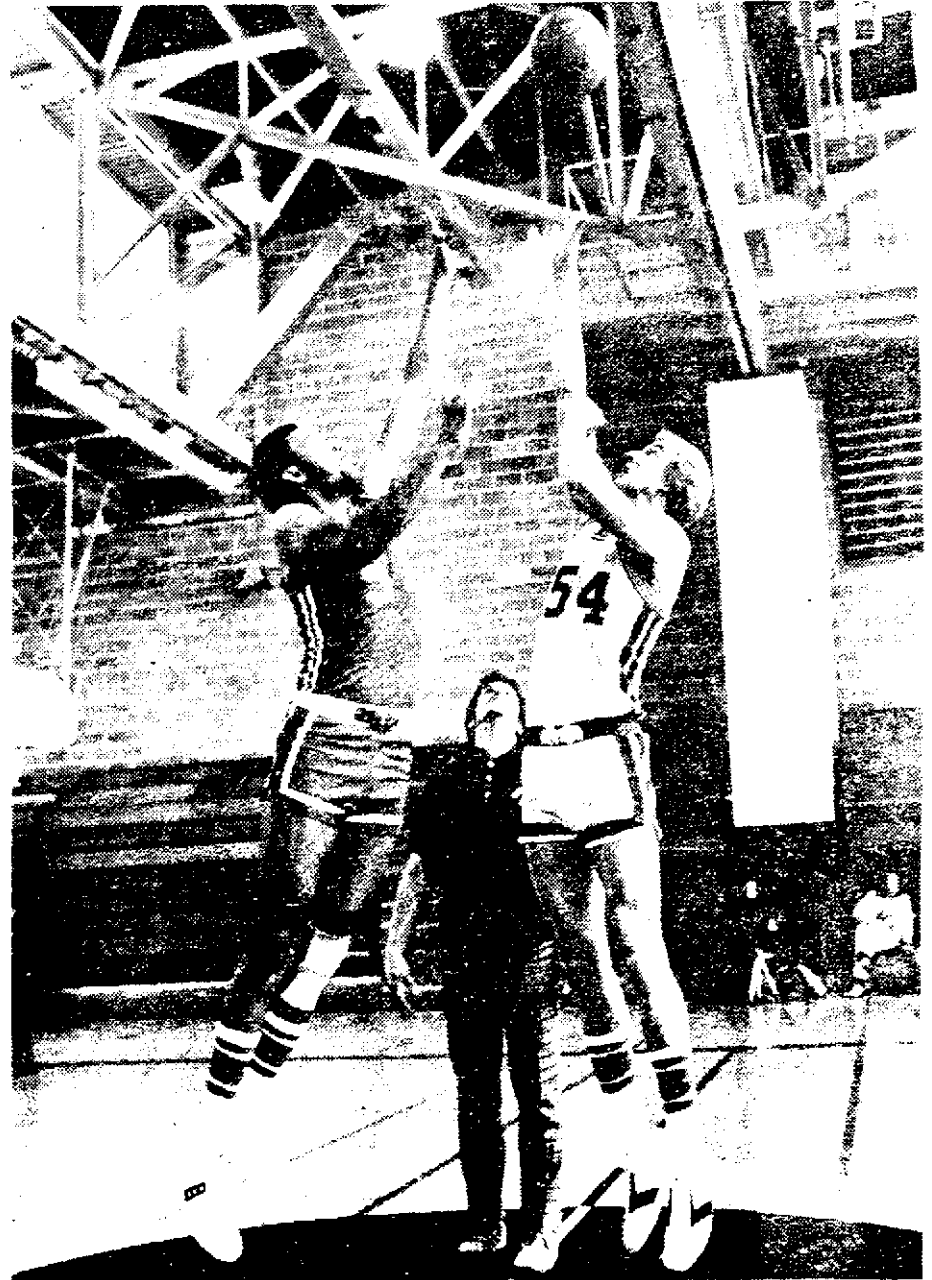

Elder was talking by telephone to his wife, Rose, when Burns three-putted the 15th for a bogey that left Lee alone in the lead.

He retired to the lockerroom, took his shoes off, propped up his feet, watched the rest of the action on television and scored one of the most comfortable victories of the season.

Forrest Fezler came on to take second with a birdie on the final hole that gave him last round 67 and a total of 279, one back.

Burns, falling victim to the pressure, missed a short birdie putt on the 16th hole, three-putted the 17th and finished with a round of par 72 and a 280 total, tied for third with Wally Armstrong. Armstrong had a also had a last round 72.

Up For Grabs

Sunday was press day for the Nebraska Coaches' Association high school all-star basketball team at Lincoln Southeast. It provided an opportunity for Brother Mike Wilmot, Creighton Prep's basketball coach, to throw a jump ball to super staters Mark McVicker (54) of Hastings and Ted Parks from his own Class A state championship team. McVicker, a member of the South team for this summer's two all-star games, received a basketball scholarship at Nebraska. Parks, a North team member, will attend Hutchinson (Kan.) Junior College. Wilmot relished his impromptu role as an official. Last season, Prep's head coach was charged with 11 technical fouls, according to a controversial bench decorum rule.

Warriors Get Off With Fresh Start

OAKLAND (AP) — The Golden State Warriors were supposed to be tired but never looked fresher, especially 31-year-old Rick Barry.

"I was stiff out there for a while until I felt myself getting into the game," Barry said Sunday after scoring 38 points to help destroy the Phoenix Suns 128-103 in their National Basketball Association playoff opener.

"Yeah, I know they were supposed to be tired, so tired," remarked the Suns' Curtis Perry. "That was just some of that Muhammad Ali-type psyche stuff."

Barry scored 18 points in less than six minutes of action in an incredible first-half hot streak, but he said later, "I had plenty of help."

Coach Al Attles called it just another of the Warriors' great team efforts, with the emphasis on defense. He added, "We put it in the back of our minds, the fact we had played a tough game 40 hours ago."

Phoenix coach John MacLeod said, "We're going to have to play a good deal harder next game. The Warriors were so much more aggressive defensively, especially in the first half when we had 18 turnovers."

The Warriors concluded a tough six-game opening round series with Detroit by winning in overtime on the road Friday night.

The defending NBA champions, playing less than 40 hours after the conclusion of a rugged opening series with Detroit, out-ran the Suns and played superb defense in the nationally televised game.

The 6-foot-7 Barry scored eight points in the final two minutes of the first period, giving the Warriors a 30-28 lead. After resting at the start of the second quarter, he came back to tally 10 straight points in a 2½-minute stretch to give the Warriors a 44-34 lead.

Golden State led 58-48 at halftime and got the first eight points of the second half to virtually clinch the first game in the best-of-seven series for the Western Conference championship. The second game will be played here Wednesday night.

Paul Westphal and Alvan Adams, the Suns' top scorers through the regular season, scored only 16 points between them in the first half. Adams got hot too late and finished with 19 points, second high behind teammate Curtis Perry who had 22.

Warriors' guard Phil Smith got off to a slow start, with only four points in the first half. But the second-year player, who averaged 29 points in the Detroit series, finished with 17.

Barry's point total was his highest by far in playoff games this year. The Golden State captain also had seven steals, seven rebounds and three assists in the victory.

Bruins Stunned In Boston, 5-2

BOSTON (AP) — The Philadelphia Flyers broke open a tight game with third-period goals by Mel Bridgman, Reggie Leach and Tom Bladen and conquered an old jinx with a 5-2 victory over the Boston Bruins Sunday night in their National Hockey League semifinal playoff.

Goalie Wayne Stephenson, who made his playoff debut in defeating Boston 2-1 in overtime in the second game, turned in another spectacular performance. He made 26 saves as the Flyers took a 2-1 lead in the best-of-seven series.

The victory was only the third for the Flyers in Boston since their entry into the NHL in 1967. They won their initial game here and captured an overtime decision in the playoffs two years ago.

Ross Lonsberry of the Flyers and Jean Ratelle of the Bruins scored first-period goals. Boston went ahead on Wayne Cashman's goal at 13:56 of the second period, but Bill Barber tied the count in the final minute of the session.

Bridgman broke the deadlock at 2:11 of the third period, and the Flyers were in command the rest of the way.

The Boston defense, particularly Darryl Edestrand, collapsed as Philadelphia regained home ice advantage in the series while bidding for a third consecutive Stanley Cup championship.

The fourth game of the series is scheduled for Boston Garden Tuesday night.

Jackson Aids Win In First Game As Oriole

By United Press International

In the American League, Reggie Jackson drove in the tying run in his third plate appearance as an Oriole and Ken Singleton's sacrifice fly scored the game-winner as Baltimore salvaged the second game of a Sunday doubleheader by edging the Oakland A's 4-3 after Vida Blue pitched a 6-1 triumph in the opening contest.

Jackson, who got a standing ovation prior to drawing a first-inning walk, came to the plate in the sixth after Tony Muser had singled and Lee May doubled. Facing ex-teammate Paul Lindblad for the first time, Jackson grounded out sharply to first base, allowing Muser to score the Orioles' third run, as May took third base. Singleton's sacrifice fly scored May as relief pitcher Wayne Garland notched his first victory.

Claude Williams' bases-loaded double knocked Mike Cuellar from the mound and erased a 2-0 lead the Orioles built on Bob Grieh's two-run first-inning homer.

In the opener, Ross Grimsley, who led the Orioles' pitching staff with 29 homers yielded last season, was tagged by Billy Williams after Sal Bando walked in the second inning. It was Williams' first homer of 1976. Rudi then led off the fourth with his third homer.

Blue, 2-3, halted a personal streak of three straight losses by scattering six singles after May homered for Baltimore in the second inning.

In other games, Kansas City nipped New York 2-1 in 11 innings. Texas downed Boston 6-3, Cleveland split a double-header with California, clobbering the Angels 12-3 in the first game, and dropping the nightcap 5-4. Detroit's twinning at Chicago was rained out and heavy snow showers cancelled Milwaukee's game at Minnesota.

Jim Wohlford scored on John Mayberry's RBI fielder's choice with one out in the 11th inning to give the Royals a victory over the Yankees. New York's Rudy May pitched a no-hitter for eight innings but was relieved by Sparky Lyle after Otis opened the ninth with a double. Otis went to third on an infield out and scored the tying run on Mayberry's sacrifice fly.

Jeff Burroughs' three-run homer in the eighth inning lifted the Rangers to their fourth straight victory against Boston, behind Gaylord Perry's seven-hit pitching. Perry retired 19 of the last 21 batters.

A two-run homer by Rico Carty and a solo shot by Buddy Bell led a 10-hit attack that powered the Indians to a rout of the Angels in the first game of a doubleheader.

Bobby Bonds drove in two runs to highlight a three-run first inning and Jerry Remy drove in a pair of runs to spark the Angels to a split of their twin-bill with the Indians.

In the National League, southpaw Randy Jones checked Pittsburgh on six hits to become the major leagues' first five-game winner and Doug Rader slammed a three-run homer, carrying the San Diego Padres to a 4-2 victory over the Pirates.

Jones, now 5-1, used just 85 pitches and walked none to stymie the Pirates while the Padres made the most of 10 hits — including seven in the first five innings — off loser Doc Medich. 1-3. It was the fourth complete game effort in six starts for Jones, who at one point retired 14 men in a row.

Romer highlighted a four-run sixth inning rally.

In other games Los Angeles tripped St. Louis 3-1, Philadelphia trounced Atlanta 8-2, Montreal defeated Cincinnati 8-1 in 16 innings, Houston and New York split a doubleheader, the Astros winning the opener 5-4 and the Mets rebounding to take the nightcap 7-4, and Chicago edged San Francisco 6-5 in 14 innings in the first game of a doubleheader.

Pinch-hitter Bill Buckner laid down a perfect bunt in the seventh inning to score Steve Garvey with the tie-breaking run as the Dodgers reeled off their ninth consecutive victory with a win over St. Louis.

Mike Schmidt's two-run double capped a four-run second inning that enabled Philadelphia to defeat Atlanta and deal the Braves their seventh straight loss.

Barry Foote basesloaded single with two out in the 16th inning and Pepe Mangual followed with a two-run double to lift the Expos over Cincinnati.

With two outs winning pitcher Don Stanhouse touched off the decisive rally with a double to left off loser Pat Darcy. Jerry White was given an intentional pass and after a walk to Nate Colbert filled the bases. Foote singled Mangual then doubled to left-center for two more insurance runs.

Del Unser capped a four-run sixth inning with a run-scoring single and added a two-run homer in the ninth to give the Mets a split of their doubleheader with Houston.

Larry Milbourne's opposite field single in the ninth inning of the opener scored pinch-runner Wilbur Howard from third base to the Astros their first game victory as pitcher J.R. Richard recorded his fourth triumph in five decisions.

Dave Kingman and Jerry Grote also singled home runs in the sixth inning and Bud Harrelson sent the other New York run home on a squeeze bunt before Unser capped the inning with his single. Unser's homer in the ninth came after pitcher Skip Lockwood had walked.

Jose Cardenal's single, his sixth hit of the game, scored Dave Rosello from second with two out in the 14th inning to propel the Cubs past the Giants in the first game of a doubleheader.

Fibak, Meiler Victors

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Just two months ago, Wojtek Fibak of Poland was thinking about passing up his chance to compete in the WCT World Doubles Championship so he could represent his country in Davis Cup competition the first weekend of May.

But as time went on and as Fibak and doubles partner Karl Meiler of West Germany began to assert themselves as one of the best teams in the world, Fibak decided it would be in his best interest to play in the WCT event.

And Sunday, it turned out that Fibak's decision was in the best interest of himself and Meiler, but not of Americans Stan Smith and Bob Lutz. The European duo beat the Americans 6-3, 2-6, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4 to win the nationally televised WCT finals and take home the $40,000 first place prize.

"Three weeks ago I decided I was coming here regardless of what happened," said Fibak, "and then at Stockholm a week ago my country's tennis federation sent me a telegram recommending that I come here too and wishing me good luck."

What precipitated Fibak's decision was an injury suffered by Jacek Ndziedzki, Poland's second best player, and the lackadaisical attitude of the other Polish players.

I think something should be done so players don't have to decide between playing Davis Cup or in a WCT event," said Fibak. "I really wanted to play Davis Cup but this is also the biggest doubles event of the year."

Fibak and Meiler clinched the win when they broke Lutz' serve in the ninth game of the fifth set and then Fibak held serve as the two Europeans allowed their American opponents, who won the WCT tournament in 1973 only two points on the final two serves.

Carner Eagle Sparks Lady Tara Triumph

ATLANTA (UPI) — Veteran Jo Anne Carner came out of the woods to make an eagle Sunday to vault above Argentina's Silvia Bertolacini and win the Lady Tara Classic by three strokes.

Carner, who has now won 14 times in less than seven years on the LPGA tour, was tied with Bertolacini going into the 14th hole of Sunday's third and final round.

She drove into the woods on the 460-yard par-5 hole but recovered with a four-iron shot that left the ball just 15 feet from the cup, then rammed home the putt to take a two-stroke lead. She widened that lead two holes later when she placed her approach shot up against the tin for an easy birdie.

Carner, who had appeared to be in trouble when she went into a creek and took a doublebogey on the tenth hole, wound up with a three-under-par 70 for the day and a 10-under-par 209 for the tournament.

Bertolacini, who had led at the end of the first round and

Baker Sets Speed Record

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — Heavy-footed Buddy Baker set an all-time NASCAR speed record and ran away with the richest Winston 500 Grand National stock car race in history Sunday for his third straight victory on the massive tri-oval here.

The 6-foot-4 Baker averaged 169.887 miles per hour as his Ford dominated the race.

Baker, 35, had to fight off occasional challenges by Cale Yarborough, who finished second, Richard Petty and the Allison brothers Bobby and Donnie. But Yarborough was the only one in the same lap with Baker at the checkered flag, and he was 35 seconds behind the winning blue and white car.

In winning the $216,235 race, on the Alabama International Motor Speedway, Baker erased a record set by Yarborough in the 1968 Firecracker 400 at Daytona Beach—167,247 m.p.h.

Baker, who won $21,985 for finishing first, drove the 500 miles in exactly three hours and after 90 of the 188 laps he was averaging 157.846 m.p.h., a track record for that distance. He continued to set records throughout the race.

There were 25 lead changes among eight drivers but most of those came during pit stops as Baker led for 135 laps.

After Yarborough came Bobby Allison, Petty and Donnie Allison.

Baker grabbed the lead for good with 60 miles to go when Yarborough pitted.

Petty also was challenging at that point, but he had to go in briefly when an engine began misfiring and Baker was never challenged.

Only three caution flags for a total of 18 early laps slowed the cars and after the last one it was wide open for 345 miles with routine pit stops the only thing that could halt the drivers.

It took Petty 100 laps at one stage to make up one lap on Baker and during three laps of that duel Petty was clocked at 192.9 m.p.h.

Lauda Wins Prix; Hunt Out

MADRID (UPI) — James Hunt of Great Britain Sunday won the Grand Prix of Spain but race officials later disqualified him on a technicality and declared defending world champion Niki Lauda of Austria the winner.

Hunt and (Frenchman Jacques) Laffitte have been disqualified, officials said at the end of a jury meeting.

Hunt's McLaren team immediately appealed the disqualification.

The jury told them the appeal would be considered by the sports commission of the International Automobile Federation within a month, but until it is decided Niki Lauda will be considered the provisional winner.

"Unfortunately, in the case of the McLaren of James Hunt and the Ligier of Jacques Laffitte certain irregularities were found that infringed the regulation of the International Sports Commission regarding the width of the aerofoil, a jury communique said.

Officials of Hunt's McLaren team said the foil was found to be 1/8 inch too wide.

'Doctor' Cures Nets' Woes

Denver (AP) — The New York Nets kept going to the Doctor and a league-record crowd of 19,034 watched in awe as Julius Dr. J. Erving single-handedly cured what ailed his team.

The Nets, who hadn't won in Denver in more than two years, broke the drought Saturday night in the opening game of the American Basketball Association championship series against the Nuggets.

"Dr. J." the league's Most Valuable Player, hit a 20-foot baseline jumper at the buzzer, lifting the Nets over the Nuggets 120-118.

Game two of the series will be played here Tuesday night.

The clinching basket launched over the outstretched arms of one of the ABA's top defenders, Bobby Jones, merely capped a brilliant 45-point performance by Erving. He scored 18 of those points in the fourth quarter, helping hold off determined Denver rallies. And in the final 2:46 of the game, he tossed in 10 of his team's 11 points.

When you've got the rhythm going, you've just got to try to keep it going, said Erving, explaining his apparent decision in the closing minutes to take matters into his own hands.

He's just one of the best players in the world, said Jones, who was plagued by foul trouble and played only 28 minutes. I've never seen him play better.

Erving said the game's final play, which followed a rebound basket by Nuggets rookie Marvin Webster that tied the score 118-118 with four seconds left, didn't develop exactly as planned.

We wanted to get the ball to the baseline so I could drive to the hoop, said Erving. I took two dribbles but Jones cut me off, so I just let it fly.

New York Coach Kevin Loughery said Erving was not to be denied. And that basket was against the best defensive forward in pro ball.

For the game, the 6 foot 7 Erving connected on 17 of 25 field goal attempts and hit all 11 free throws. He also pulled down 12 rebounds.

His performance overshadowed that of the ABA's most exciting rookie, Denver forward David Thompson, who scored 30 points. On three occasions, Thompson brought Denver back from deficits as large as 10 points.

But the Nuggets couldn't overcome Erving's heroics in the final quarter. They pulled within one point on eight occasions, but never led and their only tie in the closing period came when Webster stuffed home an errant shot by Dan Issel.

Rutherford Wins Trenton

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Johnny Rutherford won the race but Janet Guthrie scored a moral victory Sunday in the Trentonian 200, the race that could springboard her toward a historic start in next month's Indianapolis 500.

I wish her the best of luck, said Rutherford, who moved into the lead on the final lap after leader Gordon Johncock ran out of fuel. I could find nothing really to criticize her about.

Miss Guthrie, who stood in the rear of the press room while Rutherford spoke, smiled happily and said, I'm on my way. I hope Miss Guthrie's debut was more successful than that of Arlene Hiss, who broke the sex barrier in Indy car racing in March with an unimpressive showing at Phoenix. Miss Guthrie, 38, was credited with 15th place and she ran steadily except for one lapse until her Vollstedt-Offy lost a transmission after 118 miles.

The car got away from me only once. And I killed the engine, she said of a slide through the second turn about the midpoint of the race. But I got it saved and managed to get going again. Coming through that little crisis helped a little too, I think.

Johncock, who had led since lap 107 of the 135 lap race, suddenly slowed as he came down for the white flag, apparently out of fuel. Rutherford, about five seconds back at the time, moved into the lead as Johncock rolled into his pits for a quick splash of fuel.

Johncock held off a fast-closing Tom Sneva for second.

I like to win no matter what way, said a weary Rutherford. Rutherford had qualified second behind A.J. Foyt, who won the pole position at 166.307 miles per hour.

Five Pipe Bombs Go Off In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Five small pipe bombs went off early Sunday in Manhattan causing minor damage, police said. A telephone caller to a newspaper said the bombs were planted by the Jewish Armed Resistance.

The anonymous male caller to the New York Daily News said the bombings were in retaliation for Russia's handling of its Jewish citizens.

No injuries were reported from the bombings.

The explosions went off about 4:30 a.m. at a book store that carries Russian books, at two bank branch offices, near the United Nations Library and outside the Communist Party headquarters.

Police said plate glass windows were broken at four of the sites and a sidewalk grate was damaged at the Communist Party headquarters.

The explosions were the latest in a series of terrorist-style actions claimed as the work of the Jewish Armed Resistance.

They have touched off retaliatory harassment of Americans in Moscow with hundreds of threatening telephone calls to American embassy workers. The embassy was evacuated twice because of telephoned bomb threats. Some of the callers referred to the New York attacks.

The resistance has claimed responsibility for a number of actions this year, including a pipe bomb blast outside the Polish consulate, a bombing of a Soviet Aeroflot Airlines office on Fifth Avenue and firing shots into the Soviet Mission to the United Nations and at the Russian residential compound in the Riverdale section of the Bronx.

No injuries were reported from any of those incidents.

Sunday's blasts occurred several hours before a march down Fifth Avenue to a "Solidarity Day for Soviet Jewry" rally at Dag Hammarskjöld Plaza near the United Nations.

The sponsors of the rally, the Greater New York Conference on Soviet Jewry, have criticized the use of terrorist tactics.

After the shots were fired into the Soviet Mission April 2, the conference issued a statement that said "Terrorist tactics, regardless of who commits them, only serve to throw a roadblock in the path of those who are working diligently and in a responsible manner for the causes of justice and freedom."

They're Running For Fun

A group of about 50 Lincolntonites fought a brisk chilling wind Sunday morning and participated in the annual Run for Fun sponsored by the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce. With two options available, a four-mile and an eight-mile course, runners seemed to enjoy the beauty of a full-bloom Pioneer Park as they took an opportunity to enhance their personal fitness with the run. # Fires On Campus Probed By Police, Fire Marshal

University of Nebraska police and the state fire marshal's office are investigating a case of suspected arson involving eight fires set in the Women's PE Building on the University of Nebraska Campus Sunday afternoon.

Deputy Fire Marshal Don Rixstine said the fires were confined to bulletin boards which had been damaged to the extent of about $150 shortly after 5 p.m.

Rixstine said the fires appeared to be the kind that

Science Course Proves Popular

A non-technical science course for high school students who are not college bound, has begun in more than 25 Nebraska schools since last September, according to Roger Macklem of the State Department of Education. The goal for the program is 50 schools by next September.

The program, called "Ground Zero and Up," was designed and written by the Nebraska State Department of Education with help from the University of Nebraska College of Engineering and Technology and the Instructional Media Center at NU.

The course can be used in both junior and senior high schools and has been used in some Nebraska State Colleges.

The course is divided into five chapters, each supplemented by a student workbook. Chapter 1 is "Seeing is Believing," and deals with man-made satellites and how they relay information back to earth. The second chapter, entitled "Where It's At," takes the student on a trip through Nebraska and looks at its geography. Chapter 3, "Instamatic Learning," teaches the fundamentals of classroom photography. "What Has Less Calories than Soda Pop?" is Chapter 4 and studies water quality, ecology and environment in Nebraska. The final chapter is "Who Is Outstanding in Their Field," and studies land use and soil conservation in the state.

Dr. Donald Edwards, associate dean of the College of Engineering at NU, said the chapters could be used independently of one another and at least one teacher is presently doing that. Jim Shank, science teacher at Mars Junior High in Omaha, said that he uses bits and pieces of the course to supplement what he already has.

Edwards said the course also could be used to broaden learning experiences in physics, earth science, Nebraska history and geography and courses taught on natural resources and ecology in Nebraska.

Each student receives five workbooks which are provided free by the State Department of Education. For $48 the Instructional Media Center at NU also provides 129 slides which supplement the workbooks, and include an audio tape, script, teachers guide and slide tray.

Edwards said the slides and audio tape have been used by Boy Scout groups, photography clubs and other civic groups.

A second program based on U.S. resources is now in the planning stage.

Behlen Observatory Sets Amateur Night

Friday will be "amateur astronomer's night" at the Behlen Observatory at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln at Mead.

Amateur astronomers from Lincoln and Omaha have been invited to set up their instruments on the observatory grounds for display to the public.

Visitors should plan to be at the observatory between 8-11 p.m. and will be able to view the heavens through the observatory's 30-inch telescope, weather permitting.

A non-technical movie describing the work of astronomers will also be shown.

The observatory also will be open free to the public on May 21, and can be reached from Lincoln via Highways 77 and 63. It is located southeast of Mead between 3rd and 4th Sts.

UNL Sponsors May 15 Seminar On State Medical Malpractice

A medical malpractice insurance seminar will be held May 15 at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education in Lincoln.

Also included will be a review of medical malpractice legislation enacted by the Unicameral during this year's session.

The conference is sponsored by the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Insurance Research Group of the College of Business Administration and the NU Extension Division.

Speakers will include representatives of insurance companies, medical associations, state agencies and university departments.

Those invited to attend include physicians, hospital and nursing home administrators, dentists, attorneys and insurance agents.

The seminar will focus on present malpractice problems with special emphasis on loss prevention and the malpractice climate in Nebraska.

Cost Sharing Forms Due May 14

Rural communities and towns under 10,000 in population must submit applications for cost sharing on fire equipment purchases by May 14.

Up to 50% cost sharing on radios, breathing equipment, protective clothing and other fire equipment is available through the Rural Community Fire Program.

Applications may be obtained by contacting the Nebraska State Forester at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln campus.

The Cancer native has more success in business than does the average person. These individuals also know how to take shortcuts — they save time, energy, money by successfully cutting corners. Cancer is not swayed by red tape tradition precedent. Instead, the classical Cancer person creates methods, imprints style, gets edge on opposition, has knack for time motion, budget. Statistics indicate that where commerce and industry are concerned it is difficult to beat one born under this zodiacal sign. Quote from Cancer Calvin Coolidge: "The business of AMERICA is BUSINESS."

position of authority is willing to 'talk' money.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Strive for advancement! Demand rights — get what is coming to you. Take cash — and credit, too — for a forewarning. Follow through — protect yourself in emotional clinches. You're due for promotion — in personal as well as professional life.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Emphasis on long distance long journey, specialized course of study. You should break restrictions — key is to expand. No confinement, confine you, detract from you or make you feel less than wonderful. Know it and do something
